Want to find the presentations delivered by your favorite mentor?
Want to know what's happening when and where within the venue?
Want to make your own agenda for the conference?
Want someone to remind you about your favorite program just a few minutes before it starts?

E-Abstract is the digital form of the abstract book hosted on the AIOS Scientific Committee Website. It is an intelligent and user-friendly application which helps you to find your favorite programs.

Here's what you can do with E-Abstract

Delegates/speakers can search or filter the entire scientific program on the following criteria and draw their own agenda in a simplified way.

- General program / Instruction Course / Free paper / Videos
- Session: Cataract / Refractive Surgery / Glaucoma,...and the rest
- Random Search (Eg: Uvea, Sathish, Timolol)

The user can add or bookmark the selected programs to a favorite list in E-Abstract, which can be printed, emailed or referred to a friend.

Bored of reading the abstract? Take a break. Sign up once or login with your Scientific Committee Website user id and password to save your agenda.

Want your friend to be with you in a favorite program? “Tell a friend” lets you do that. You can share your agenda or invite him/her. You’ll never be without a companion!

Signed in users can choose to get SMS alerts during the conference. So, this virtual friend will send a reminder just 30 minutes before the start of your favorite program.

You may amend or append your agenda when you visit E-Abstract the next time.

What's more? Make your own agenda for AIOC2015

Greetings from Scientific Committee & A Very Happy & Prosperous New Year to All of you & your families !!

Challenge

Life is a challenge !
Designing a balanced Scientific Programme for our hugely popular Annual Meeting is a Bigger Challenge !!
Believe me – it has not been easy !
My dream has been a Good Scientific Programme…
Programme that is Useful for Comprehensive Ophthalmologist…
Programme that helps Every body…
Programme which helps YOU in your practice…

We had an overwhelming number of submissions ( 549 submissions for Instruction Courses; 1699 submissions for Free Papers / Posters and 258 for Videos; with the number of scientific halls and sessions limited, the task of selection was arduous – I am thankful to all the Evaluators for helping the Scientific Committee – The process of selection was transparent and democratic with marks given by evaluators being the prime criteria for inclusion into the Programme book.

I have tried my best…

Can't thank enough all the members of Scientific Committee – without their inputs this book wouldn't have taken this shape.
Thrust has been on the needs of General / Comprehensive Ophthalmologist. Apart from the routine of IC's/ FP's/ E-Posters/ Videos, highlights include: Simulated Surgery Skill Transfer Sessions, Physical Poster boards for one to one interaction, Video Assisted Teaching Sessions, Session on Ophthalmic Innovations, Ophthalmic Sizzlers with thrust on Panel discussion, ‘Industry for You’ etc.

I know and am aware that there is huge amount of untapped Scientific talent - I am keen that these unsung heroes become part of our programme – they have brilliant ideas and are the future of Indian Ophthalmology. Wish I could provide platform to all of them to showcase their scientific work.

Shall appreciate positive suggestions !
Aim is to make AIOS the Best !

Funds are an issue.
Presently we can’t offer Accommodation / Travel to the best names!
Have Hope !!

Happy Conferencing !!!
Know Your Incoming President

Dr. Debasish Bhattacharya our incoming President did his MBBS (‘80) from NRS Medical College, Calcutta University and MS (‘85) from RIO, Calcutta.

Born in Kanpur (‘56), he grew up in a defense environment as the youngest of 5 siblings to become a first generation ophthalmologist. Soon after his MS, he started his private practice in his small town of Barrackpore (30 Kms north of the city of Kolkata). From spectacle shops to his own clinic at home and his nursing home, he has seen all eventualities of practice life.

He is a prolific cataract surgeon of the IOL boom era and as one of the pioneers of the east he has performed more than 50,000 private cataract surgeries. He shared his practice with 3 of his junior college friends to start Disha Eye Hospitals in 1997 – a group practice initiative which today is the largest eye care system in Eastern India doing more than 75,000 surgeries in all specialties of ophthalmology (Cataract, Cornea, Refractive, VR, Occuloplasty, Squint, Glaucoma), 30 thousand lasers and seeing more than 8 lakhs patients in its 9 hospitals across West Bengal.

AIOS has been central to his learning. An AIOS member since 1985, he has attended almost every AIOS conference. As a participant he started presenting his work through papers, posters and videos. He was conferred the Sante Vision Award at AIOC 2003 for the best work in Cataract.

Grounded as he is, he has a clear understanding of the basic requirement of every Practitioner. His basis instruction courses of learning SIC&Phaco are very popular learning tools for every beginner. A member once told: “I have seen the DVD’s so many times that even my child can tell when the girl with the hat will come”.

Dr. Debasish Bhattacharya
President-AIOS(2015)
91-9830058283
dbdisha@gmail.com
As a cataract surgeon, he has shared his skills in most live surgical platforms across the country – Maharashtra OS, Bombay OA, Vidarbha OS, Delhi OS, Bihar OS, Jharkhand OS, Odisha SOS, AssamOS, IIRSI, Andhra Pradesh SOS and Uttar Pradesh SOS. Internationally he has been to Shang Dong University – Jinan Hospital in China, Java Ophthalmic Society – Cicendo Eye Hospital Bandungin Indonesia and Malaysia College of Ophthalmologists – The Tun Hussein Onn National Eye Hospital, Kuala Lumpur in Malaysia (2005)

With his innovative, clear and simple approach to ophthalmology he has always been a popular faculty in all state society conferences and invited speaker in international meetings like the AIOS-AAO Joint Meeting in 2007, Bascom Palmer Eye Institute Miami in 2010, Java Ophthalmic Society, North Western University &School of Medicine Chicago in 2010, and Russian Society of Ophthalmology in 2013.

Awards and accolades for his work have always been there. To mention a few, he received the Sante Vision Award AIOC – 2003, Daljit Singh Gold Medal Oration – 2004, President oration IDOS – 2009, EIZOC Luminary Award – 2010, Silver Jubilee Dr. Ishwarchandra Award, VOS – 2010, Distinguished Service Award BOA – 2010 and Dr. ShantilalModi oration award Ahmedabad Ophthalmological Society – 2012 and was conferred the Diploma Se Ortega from Bascom Palmer Eye Institute.

With his keen sense of practice management, he has been an important part of national symposiums in AIOS, IAPB Vision 2020, NPCB and other allied advocacies.

Always a popular friend and guide to his AIOS peers, he was elected as the Editor Proceedings, AIOS in 2004 and reelected again in 2007 to serve the post for 6 years from 2005 to 2010. During his tenure, he started recording the entire video proceedings of whole AIOC of 12 halls for 4 days to host it on the web and also give a personal copy to all members. He served as the Chairman of the AIOS Ethics Committee from 2010 to 2011 to reaffirm the highest ethics amongst members. He served as the member of the IJO editorial board to see that members present, publish and share their science to impact the whole world.

His sweet, soft and intelligent leadership elected him as the Vice President of AIOS with a clear majority in APAO-AIOC2013 in Hyderabad. Moving up the ladder, he has become the President Elect at AIOC 2014 in Agra and will be installed as the President at AIOC 2015 in New Delhi.

He is happily married to Pushpita who looks after the HR of Disha Eye Hospitals and is blessed by an elder daughter Ishita MA (Eco) who works with a corporate while his son Ranabir pursues his MBA from NMIMS, Mumbai.

The self-taught honest simple man on the ground, an invaluable friend to all in AIOS who has seen the world through AIOS with his soft and intelligent leadership is now our trusted President of AIOS 2015.
WELCOME TO THE ERA OF CENTURION®

Optimize every moment of your cataract removal procedure with the NEW CENTURION® Vision System.

Active Fluidics
Automatically optimizes chamber stability by allowing surgeons to customize and control IOP throughout the procedure.

Balanced Energy
Enhances cataract emulsification efficiency using OZil® Intelligent Phaco and the new INTREPID® Balanced Tip design.

Applied Integration
Designed to work seamlessly with other Alcon technologies for an integrated cataract procedure experience.

David F. Chang, MD is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Medical School. He completed his ophthalmology residency at the University of California, San Francisco where he is now a clinical professor. Having chaired the ASCRS Cataract Clinical Committee, Dr. Chang joined the ASCRS Executive Committee in 2009 and served as the 2012-2013 president. He is immediate past chair of AAO Cataract Preferred Practice Pattern Committee. Dr. Chang is also chair of the ASCRS Foundation International Committee and serves on the medical advisory board of several international organizations focused on global cataract blindness - Himalayan Cataract Project, Fiat Lux Foundation, Wonder Works, and Project Vision.

In 2006, Dr. Chang became only the third ophthalmologist to ever receive the Charlotte Baer Award honoring the outstanding clinical faculty member at the UCSF Medical School. He has received the highest honor for cataract surgery from the following organizations: ASCRS (Binkhorst Medal), AAO (Kelman Lecture), Asia Pacific Association of Cataract & Refractive Surgery (Lim Medal), United Kingdom and Ireland Society of Cataract & Refractive Surgery (Rayner Medal), Canadian Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery (Award of Excellence/Stein Lecture), Indian Intraocular Implant & Refractive Society (Gold Medal), Italian Ophthalmological Society (Strampelli Medal), and Royal Australia and New Zealand College of Ophthalmologists (Gregg Medal). He is the 2014 recipient of the Jose Rizal International Medal, the highest international award from the Asia-Pacific Academy of Ophthalmology. In a 2014 listing of the 100 most influential ophthalmologists, he was voted the 5th in the world by the international readership of The Ophthalmologist.

Dr. Chang is the chief medical editor of EyeWorld and served for 5 years as co-chief medical editor for Cataract and Refractive Surgery Today. He was the textbook editor of Cataract Surgery Today (CRST 2009), Mastering Refractive IOLs – the Art and Science (Slack 2008) and Curbside Consultation in Cataract Surgery (Slack 2007), and the principal author of Phaco Chop and Advanced Phaco Techniques (Slack 2004, 2012).
Dr. Malyugin is a world renowned authority and expert in the field of modern cataract surgery. He has established himself at the forefront of advanced cataract surgery by pioneering numerous techniques and technologies in the field of ophthalmology. Prof. Malyugin is having multiple international awards and was invited to participate with lectures and live surgery sessions in the national and international meetings in many countries all over the world (Beijing, Germany, Romania, Belgium, Morocco, Greece, Ukraine, India, Italy and others).

He is a member of ESCRS Board, International Intraocular Implant Club and Academia Ophthalmologica Internationalis. Prof. Malyugin is the ICO, AAO and ASCRS member.

Dr. Malyugin has made significant contributions to cataract and implant surgery. He is well known for his development of the Malyugin Ring to facilitate small pupil cataract surgery. Other innovations include instruments and devices, accommodative and multifocal intraocular lenses with pioneering concept of the gradient refractive index optics. He developed the modified CTR to be used in patients with hereditary and acquired zonular pathology which is gaining the popularity among the cataract surgeons.

He is a Chief Medical the Journals «Ophthalmosurgery» (Russia) and EuroTimes (Russian edition); associate Editor of the «NewsinOphthalmology» (Russia). He is also an Editorial Board Member of the Journal of Cataract and Refractive Surgery, EuroTimes (International edition); Russian Pediatric Ophthalmology Journal; Annals of Ophthalmology; Cataract and Refractive Surgery Today (Europe); OcularSurgeryNews; Journal of the Intraocular Implant & Refractive Society (India); Delhi Journal of Ophthalmology; Eye and Brain.

Dr. Malyugin publishes in peer-reviewed and non peer-reviewed literature. His publication list contains co-editing of 4 books in different fields of ophthalmology and the Video Atlas of Ophthalmic Surgery (1st and 2nd editions) as well as 32 book chapters. Dr. Malyugin also made several contributions to the Video Journal of Cataract and Refractive Surgery.
Dr. Rupesh Agarwal
MMed, FRCS(Glasg), FAMS, DNB, DO, MD(Res)
Consultant Ophthalmologist (Uveitis, Ocular Trauma and General Ophthalmology)
National Healthcare Group Eye Institute
Tan Tock Seng Hospital, Singapore
Adjunct- Singapore Eye Research Institute and Nanyang Technological University

Honorary Consultant – Moorfields Eye Hospital, London, United Kingdom
Honorary Associate – Institute of Ophthalmology and Department of Mechanical Engineering, University College London, London, United Kingdom

Dr Rupesh Agrawal, is practising as Consultant Ophthalmologist at National Healthcare Group Eye Institute at Tan Tock Seng Hospital, Singapore. After completing his medical studies from Nagpur, he did his post-graduation and fellowship in Uveitis and Ocular trauma from Sankara Nethralaya, Chennai. He was subsequently working as Consultant Ophthalmologist (Uveitis, Ocular Trauma and Cataract) at Shri Ganapati Nethralaya, Jalna. He also worked briefly at L V Prasad Eye Institute before migrating to Singapore in 2009. Subsequently he is working at Singapore and has been involved in significant translational and basic science research projects.

He had very recently completed overseas research training fellowship – awarded by National Medical Research Council Scholarship, Ministry of Health, Singapore at University College London on retinal imaging using retinal leukogram and erythrogram projects. He also worked on mechanical properties of the red blood cell and its implications in microvascular disorders. He also had second fellowship in Uveitis with Prof Carlos Pavesio and accomplished numerous research projects.

His areas of interest are Ocular inflammatory disorders including cytokines, ocular tuberculosis and HIV, complex cataract, ocular trauma, ocular nanotechnology, blood corpuscular abnormalities in context of microvascular disorders and retinal imaging. He has published many articles in peer reviewed journals and has presented free papers and delivered lectures on Ocular trauma and Uveitis both nationally and internationally.

He is currently secretary of International Society of Ocular trauma. He has been recipient of many awards and research grants. He was also conferred with Healthcare Humanity Award by President of Singapore in 2011 for his humanitarian and pro bono projects in remote areas of the world. He is also serving as Senior Board member of charitable organisation “The Vision Mission” and involved heavily in charity projects across Asia.
Dr. Ramesh Ayyala

Dr. Ramesh Ayyala is an internationally known Glaucoma and Anterior Segment surgeon and researcher, having authored numerous peer reviewed original articles in all major ophthalmic journals. His research led to the creation of the Glaucoma slow release drug delivery system (GLASS) to decrease scar tissue formation following glaucoma drainage device surgery. He has been listed in the “Best Doctors in America”, “America’s Top Ophthalmologists”, and recognized by the American Academy of Ophthalmology with its “Achievement Award” and the “Secretariat Award”. He was awarded the “Courage to Teach Parker J. Palmer Award” by the Accreditation Council of Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) in recognition of his work in the post Katrina rebuilding of Tulane Ophthalmology. His passion for low-cost, quality education resulted in the establishment of Meditred.com, (www.meditred.com), dedicated to resident education for which he was awarded the “New Orleans City Business Innovators' Award”.

Dr. Ayyala's passion for community ophthalmology and resident training led to the establishment of "Anand Eye Institute" (AEI), (www.anandeyeinstitute.org) a tertiary care eye hospital in Hyderabad, India in 2012. This teaching and research hospital has been developed in collaboration with the Tulane Ophthalmology. He is the founding Chairman of AEI, President of Meditred and President/CEO of ElutiMed.

Dr. Ayyala currently serves as Professor of Ophthalmology and Director of Residency and Fellowship (Glaucoma) Programs and Director of Glaucoma Services at Tulane University Hospital and Clinics. He lives in New Orleans, Louisiana, USA.

Dr. Rajendra K Bansal

Doctor Rajendra K. Bansal is an Associate Professor of Clinical Ophthalmology at the Edward S. Harkness Eye Institute at Columbia – Presbyterian University Medical Center, Columbia University, New York. He is also Director of Glaucoma at Columbia affiliated Harlem Hospital Center, New York. In 1980, he did pioneering work in the new techniques of laser therapy for glaucoma. This resulted in his becoming a founding member of the Ophthalmic Laser Surgical Society in New York as well as the New York Glaucoma Society. He is an active member of American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) and American Glaucoma Society (AGS). In 1985, Dr. Bansal, along with physicians from India founded the Glaucoma Society of India on a national basis to create awareness of this disease in India. He has been a keynote speaker on several occasions and has presented many papers, seminars and video presentations on this subject, both nationally and internationally. He has conducted several multicentric clinical drug trials. He has written 44 peer reviewed articles and a dozen chapters in the books on this subject. In Nov. 2003, as reviewed by his peers, a renowned “Westchester Magazine” recognized him as the “Best Ophthalmologist in the Westchester County”, New York. He has also been selected as “Best Ophthalmologist” in New York by New York Times from 2008 through 2013 as reviewed by his peers.

Dr. Richard Hertle

Richard W. Hertle, MD, FAAO, FACS, FAAP

Dr. Hertle is an investigator in the areas of nystagmus and eye movement disorders. He has over 200 refereed publications, two textbooks and as many abstracts, editorials, reviews and invited lectures. He currently serves as a reviewer for multiple journals and has been a recipient of over a million dollars of research funding. His current titles include, Professor of Ophthalmology, Northeast Ohio Medical College, SUMMA Medical Center Department of Ophthalmology, Director, The Children’s Vision Center and Chief of Ophthalmology, Akron Children’s Hospital Medical Center, Akron, Ohio, USA. Dr. Hertle received his Bachelor's Degree from The Ohio State University and his Medical Degree from Northeast Ohio Universities College of Medicine. Following medical school, Dr. Hertle completed fellowships and residencies in Ocular Motility, Emergency Medicine, Ophthalmology, and Pediatric Ophthalmology and Strabismus at a variety of medical centers around the country. From 1989-98, he was at Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia. He then worked from 1998-2001 as medical officer/investigator and senior scientist at the National Eye Institute of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) in.

Dr. Shrinivas Joshi

Areas of special interest:

Artificial retinal prosthesis: Bionic eye, Argus 2 implant (Chief assisting surgeon of Argus 2 retinal prosthesis surgeries held at Toronto Western Hospital and being the second center in North America to perform). Retinopathy of prematurity: Hands on experience of recent treatment modalities at Sick Kids Hospital, Toronto. Pneumatic Retinopexy: Hands on experience on Extended CTG criteria.

Awards

2009 Best Resident Award, State level Resident Presentation Competition, Karnataka Ophthalmic State Conference, Davangere. 2010 Award for Post Graduate Ophthalmology Quiz, Karnataka Ophthalmic State Conference, Udupi.
Dr. Geeta Menon

Dr. Geeta Menon is a Consultant Ophthamic Surgeon at Frimley Health NHS Foundation Trust in Surrey. She is the Director of Clinical Education at Frimley and Head of School of Ophthalmology at Health Education Kent, Surrey and Sussex. In addition to high-volume cataract surgery, she has developed a major interest in medical retina, particularly novel treatments for age-related macular degeneration (AMD) and has supported the training of optometrists to run stable AMD clinics. She heads the regional referral centre at Frimley for macular disease and she is the Head of the Clinical Trials Unit and Principal Investigator for numerous research projects. She is also the Lead for Division 6 for Kent, Surrey and Sussex Local Clinical Research Network looking after research in ten subspecialties including Ophthalmology. The National Institute of Health Research (a body of the United Kingdom government) (NIHR) gave her an award for ‘outstanding contribution to research.’ She has published over 20 papers in various prestigious journals.

She is the Director of the Research & Development at Frimley. She is involved in the VISION 2020 links programme and has set up diabetic retinopathy screening in the Copperbelt province of Zambia. She is the Section Editor for the medical retina section of Eye journal. As testament to the reputation of her macula unit over 50 ophthalmologists from overseas (Europe, Israel, China and UAE) have visited her department because of its reputation as a center of excellence. Further the UK patient charity the Macular Disease Society awarded her macula service the clinical service of the year award 2014. She was recently awarded a prestigious Silver Merit ward for contributions to the UK National Health Service over and above her routine clinical practice.

After completing the medical degree from Maulana Azad Medical College in 1993, he did his initial residency training in Ophthalmology (MS) from Guru Nanak Eye Centre. He undertook his Higher Specialist Training (CCT) in the UK. During this time he undertook three years of clinical and lab research in inherited retinal diseases as a Wellcome Trust funded Fellow from Leeds University. Following the core Ophthalmology training in New Delhi India and UK, he did his Advanced Sub-Specialty Training in Medical Retina from Leeds (Yorkshire Training Programme). He furthered his sub-specialist training in Medical retina with Medical Retina Fellowship from Moorfields Eye Hospital in 2008. He is a Fellow of Royal College of Ophthalmologists, London & Surgeons Edinburgh, and International member of Association for Research in Vision & Ophthalmology. He is also on the Specialist register with General Medical Council.

He currently holds NHS post as a Consultant Eye Surgeon at Moorfields Eye Hospital, where he was appointed in 2010. He is also the Director of Medical Retina Fellowship Programme at Moorfields Eye Hospital.

His research interests include Diabetic Retinopathy, Age related Macular Degeneration, Retinal Vein occlusion, Albinism in Asians, and Inherited Eye Diseases. His other interests include Travelling, badminton and Running, and he supports Magic Bus – UK registered charity helping street and slum children in India.
Dr. Nataliya Maychuk

Dr. Nataliya Maychuk received her medical degree from Moscow State University of Medicine and Dentistry in 2003, then completed the Clinical Residency and Post-graduate education in ophthalmology at Fyodorov Eye Microsurgery Institution, Moscow, Russia. Defense of thesis in 2008 (Candidate of Medical Sciences, M.D. Ph.D. degree). Since 2008 till now she works as a Senior Researcher and refractive surgeon at Fyodorov Eye Microsurgery Institution. She is a Member of Russian Ophthalmology Society and has the following awards: 2 Medals of Russian Ministry of Education and Gold Medal of Russian Academy of Medical Science for the Best Scientific Works; the Grant and participation in the Annual ARVO Congress as a winner of the ARVO/AFER “Host-a-Research Program-2009”, the 1st Prize Refractive Surgery Award at the Poster Session of Winter ESCRS Congress. She is a Member of the Organizing Committee of the All-Russian Conference with International Participation “Modern Technologies in Cataract and Refractive Surgery”, author of 3 chapters in books, 98 articles and abstracts, participant of 86 scientific conferences. The main scientific projects focused on corneal confocal microscopy, biochemical analysis of lacrimal fluid and ocular surface evaluation in uneventful and complicated corneal refractive surgery as well as elaboration of refractive surgery technologies after previous corneal surgeries, traumas, infections, hypoxic keratopathy etc.

Roberto Pineda, MD

A native of Minneapolis, MN, Dr. Pineda completed his medical degree at the University of Minnesota Medical School, and was a recipient of the Howard Hughes NIH-HHMI Research Scholars Program at the Cloisters in Bethesda Maryland where he worked with retinoblastoma cell lines at the National Eye Institute. He went on to complete his Residency in Ophthalmology at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, Harvard Medical School where he served as Chief Resident for an additional year. As a Heed Fellow recipient, he completed his Cornea Fellowship at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. Currently the Director of Refractive Surgery at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, and former Division Chief of Ophthalmology at the Brigham and Womens Hospital. Dr. Pineda has published over 50 peer-reviewed papers and co-authored 5 books including the award winning Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary Illustrated Manual of Ophthalmology and the recent second addition of the Essentials of Cataract Surgery. He has received the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) Achievement Award and has served on the AAO Practicing Ophthalmology Committee in Cataract. Currently, Dr. Pineda serves on the AAO Ethics Committee. Dr. Pineda was recently appointed Associate Director of the Office of Global Surgery and Health at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. He has over 100+ publications and book chapters. He is a reviewer to many ophthalmic journals. He is a four time awardee of American Academy of Ophthalmology, and his most recent awards include Mahatma Gandhi Samman, Dr. Nathan Davis International award from AMA Foundation, Medscape named him among the best Doctors in America in 2014.
Dr. Rekha Samuel

Dr. Rekha Samuel received her MD in Pathology at the Christian Medical College and Hospital, Vellore, India. She was awarded a postdoctoral overseas fellowship by the Department of Biotechnology, Government of India, and spent three years training in vascular tissue engineering at Dr. Rakesh Jain’s laboratory at Harvard Medical School, Boston. During this period (July 2008- July 2011) she worked on creating functional blood vessels using human induced pluripotent stem cell (hiPS)- derived vascular cells, for the first time in mice using innovative animal models and in vivo imaging with the multiphoton laser-scanning microscope (Proc Natl Acad Sci U S A. 2013 Jul 30; 110(31): 12774-9). hiPS-derived vascular cells from healthy controls and Type 1 Diabetes patients formed blood vessels that lasted for 280 days and 120 days respectively in immune deficient mice.

Dr. Samuel returned three years ago to establish the vascular biology laboratory at the Centre for Stem Cell Research in CMC Vellore. Her lab focuses on functional evaluation of gestational diabetic vasculature. Data from her lab that has been recently published suggests that there are structural and functional changes in fetal placental vasculature that resembles Adult Type 2 diabetic retinopathy.

Dr. Samuel will present work related to both these papers at the AIOS conference and also serves as a co-instructor to discuss the pathophysiology of Diabetic retinopathy.

Born in Nimbalof Bijapur - Karnataka, on 10th May 1935 is the Founder and Medical Director of M M Joshi Eye Institute and Managing Trustee of S.G.M. Eye bank and Research Foundation Trust.

He completed his graduation (MBBS) from Baroda in 1961 and M. S. (Ophthalmology) from K. E. M. Bombay in 1965. He was the first M. S. (Ophthalmology) post graduate, to start private practice in the state of North Karnataka, nearly 47 years ago offering cutting edge technology of those days. Such service was made available to nearly 3 crore population covering entire North Karnataka, Goa, neighbouring Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh. His institute is one of the major Tertiary Eye care referral hospital in Karnataka.

Dr. Joshi was also the first to start an Eye Bank in Karnataka in 1979. Way back in 1975 he received the first voluntary eye donation in the entire state, which provided impetus to eye donation movement in Karnataka. At present his institute has performed more than 3600 corneal transplantation surgeries on charitable basis. He was the first ophthalmologist in the state to start safe and scientific eye camps. Dr. Joshi was the first in the country to use Silicon Oil in Complex Retinal surgeries as early as 1980's and his work was presented in All India Ophthalmic Conference held in Udaipur in the year 1981. M. M. Joshi Eye Institute under the leadership of Dr. Joshi has been the first hospital in the country to officially enter an agreement with Department of Public Instruction under Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA) for the treatment of Eye problems in Government School Children. The institute was selected by the ORBIS International as partners in prevention and cure of pediatric blindness. He organized the first Karnataka State Level Ophthalmic Conference in the year 1980, which has been continued with uninterrupted vigor since then. He has contributed immensely in the field of Ophthalmic Education. The National Board of Examinations of New Delhi recognized the institute for DNB in 1997. Also affiliated to the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences & the state medical university. Dr. Joshi has won many Professional Memberships, Assignments in Medico Social Organisations and is felicitated with many State and National recognitions. To name a few KarnatakaRajyotsava Award in 1989, FIE National Award Ichalkaranji for Humanities 1997, in 2010 Honorary Doctorate by Karnataka University Dharwad and now the Recipient of Life Time Achievement Award by A.I.O.S. Community Ophthalmology service has been the backbone of the public trust reposed over this Institution. The name of Dr. M.M.Joshi has been closely associated with free eye camps, in which poor blind people undergo ultra modern technique of cataract surgery free of cost. Shri Guru Mahipatiraj Eye Bank & Research Foundation Trust set up in 1979 renders free service to the poor people of rural areas. So far he has conducted nearly 600 free eye camps in rural areas. In these camps about (Six Lakhs) people have received examination of the eyes and more than one lakh persons have been operated upon. The Institute has been accredited with ISO 9001. He has served as a teacher to undergraduates and post graduates in K.E.M. Bombay and in K.M.C., Hubli for a period of 6 years.

Over all Dr. M. M. Joshi is a skilled Doctor, a highly dedicated professional, passionately in love with his work, possesses a rare gift of soft touch to his hands, so ever necessary for ophthalmic work. He has built large clientele with sheer intelligence, hard work and uncompromising quality. A pioneer, planner and builder of everlasting organization. A teacher, a researcher and desirous of learning and adopting new trends, developments and technology. He has a keen sense for social obligations and is always ready to give his best to rural poor. He is unpolluted by the number of awards and recognitions. Dr. Joshi is a lover of family, lover of classical music and literature, highly spiritual and above all a good human being.
Dr. R. Rathinam received M.B.B.S in 1983 and specialized in ophthalmology with university first rank. She got her MNAMS and FAMS in 1990 and 2011 respectively from National Academy of Medical Sciences. She conducted formal research on Leptospirosis and was awarded Ph.D from The Tamil Nadu Dr. MGR Medical University in 2005. She was trained to work on inflammatory eye diseases and started the uveitis clinic at Aravind Eye Care System in 1993. Her basic, epidemiological and clinical research over 20 years uncovered cause, source and pathogenesis for three new unknown inflammatory eye diseases, which include Ocular Leptospirosis, Trematode eye disease in children and Ocular West Nile virus infection. She has made outstanding contributions to ophthalmic literature both in national and international arena. Total number of publications in high impact and peer reviewed journals is 65. Total citations of these publications received are nearly 800. Maximum citations received by the land mark paper on leptospirosis and on epidemiology are 96 and 100 respectively. She has contributed chapters for books published in India, UK, Germany and the United States of America, she co edited Wills eye manual uvea atlas, USA. She is an elected member of International Uveitis Study Group (IUSG).

Dr. Das is currently Vice Chairman of the L V Prasad Eye Institute. He is Professor of Ophthalmology at the Sun Yet-Sen University, Guangzhou, China; and Adjunct Professor of Ophthalmology at University of Rochester Medical School, Rochester, NY, USA.

Welcome to Delhi

About Delhi

Delhi is a city that bridges two different worlds. Old Delhi, once the capital of Islamic India, is a labyrinth of narrow lanes lined with crumbling havelis and formidable mosques. In contrast, the imperial city of New Delhi created by the British Raj is composed of spacious, tree-lined avenues and imposing government buildings. Delhi has been the seat of power for several rulers and many empires for about a millennium. Many a times the city was built, destroyed and then rebuilt here. Interestingly, a number of Delhi's rulers played a dual role, first as destroyers and then as creators.

The city’s importance lies not just in its past glory as the seat of empires and magnificent monuments, but also in the rich and diverse cultures. No wonder chroniclers of Delhi culture - from Chand Bardai and Amir Khusro to present days writers - have never been at a loss for topics. In Delhi, you will discover that the city is sprinkled with dazzling gems: captivating ancient monuments, fascinating museums and art galleries, architectural wonders, a vivacious performing-arts scene, fabulous eating places and bustling markets.

Delhi has been the political hub of India. Every political activity in the country traces its roots here. This was true even of the mythological era. The Pandavas of the Mahabharata had their capital at Indraprastha, which is believed to have been geographically located in today's Delhi.

How to Reach Delhi

Travel by Air: All the major National and International Airlines have their flights operating from Delhi's Indira Gandhi International Airport and Palam Domestic Airport.

Travel by Rail: The extensive network of the Indian Railways connects New Delhi to all major and regional cities of India. Delhi has three important Railway Stations namely Old Delhi Railway Station, New Delhi Railway Station and Hazrat Nizamuddin Railway Station.

Travel by Road: Delhi is well connected to all major destinations in all India by roads and highways. The three major bus stops in the state are Inter State Bus Terminuses (ISBT), at Kashmere Gate, Sarai Kale Khan and Anand Vihar.

Tourist Attractions Delhi

India Gate, Red Fort, Qutub Minar, Jantar Mantar, Humayun Tomb, Chandini Chowk, Safdarjang Tomb, Rashtrapati Bhawan, Birla Mandir, Akshardham temple, Jama Masjid, Bangla Sahib, Sacred Heart Cathedral, Lotus Temple, are major tourist attractions in Delhi. Some other noteworthy Delhi travel destinations include Rajghat, National Science Center, Parliament House, Cannaught Place, Nehru Planetarium, and National Museum.

Qutab Minar

Qutub-Minar in red and buff standstone is the highest tower in India. It has a diameter of 14.32 m at the base and about 2.75 m on the top with a height of 72.5 m.

Qutbu’-Din Aibak laid the foundation of Minar in AD 1199 for the use of the mu’azzin (crier) to give calls for prayer and raised the first storey, to which were added three more storeys by his successor and son-in-law, Shamsu’-Din Ilutmish (AD 1211-36). All the storeys are surrounded by a projected balcony encircling the minar and supported by stone brackets, which are decorated with honey-comb design, more conspicuously in the first storey.

Numerous inscriptions in Arabic and Nagari characters in different places of the minar reveal the history of Qutb. According to the inscriptions on its surface it was repaired by Firuz Shah Tughlaq (AD 1351-88) and Sikandar Lodi (AD 1489-1517). Major R. Smith also repaired and restored the minar in 1829.

Quwwat-ul-Islam Mosque, to the north-east of minar was built by Qutbu’-Din Aibak in AD 1198. It is the earliest extant mosque built by the Delhi Sultans. It consists of a rectangular courtyard enclosed by cloisters, erected with the carved columns and architectural members of 27 Hindu and Jaina temples which were demolished by Qutbu’-Din Aibak as recorded in his inscription on the main eastern entrance.

Humayun’s Tomb

Located near the crossing of Mathura road and Lodhi road, this magnificent garden tomb is the first substantial example of Mughal architecture in India.
It was built in 1565 A.D. nine years after the death of Humayun, by his senior widow Bega Begam. Inside the walled enclosure the most notable features are the garden squares (Chaharbagh) with pathways water channels, centrally located well proportional mausoleum topped by double dome.

There are several graves of Mughal rulers located inside the walled enclosure and from here in 1857 A.D; Lieutenant Hudson had captured the last Mughal emperor Bahadur Shah II.

India Gate

At the centre of New Delhi stands the 42 m high India Gate, an "Arc-de-Triomphe" like archway in the middle of a crossroad. Almost similar to its French counterpart, it commemorates the 70,000 Indian soldiers who lost their lives fighting for the British Army during the World War I. The memorial bears the names of more than 13,516 British and Indian soldiers killed in the Northwestern Frontier in the Afghan war of 1919.

The foundation stone of India Gate was laid by His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught in 1921 and it was designed by Edwin Lutyens. The monument was dedicated to the nation 10 years later by the then Viceroy, Lord Irwin. Another memorial, Amar Jawan Jyoti was added much later, after India got its independence. The eternal flame burns day and night under the arch to remind the nation of soldiers who laid down their lives in the Indo-Pakistan War of December 1971.

The entire arch stands on a low base of red Bharatpur stone and rises in stages to a huge moulding. The cornice is inscribed with the Imperial suns while both sides of the arch have INDIA, flanked by the dates MCMXIV (1914 left) and MCMXIX (1919 right). The shallow domed bowl at the top was intended to be filled with burning oil on anniversaries but this is rarely done.

Lotus Temple

East of Nehru place, this temple is built in the shape of a lotus flower and is the last of seven Major Bahai's temples built around the world. Completed in 1986 it is set among the lush green landscaped gardens.

The structure is made up of pure white marble The architect Furiburz Sabha chose the lotus as the symbol common to Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism and Islam. Adherents of any faith are free to visit the temple and pray or meditate.

Around the blooming petals there are nine pools of water, which light up, in natural light. It looks spectacular at dusk when it is flood lit.

Delhi Metro

The Delhi Metro is a rapid transit system serving Delhi, Gurgaon, Noida and Ghaziabad in the National Capital Region of India. The network consists of six lines with a total length of 189.63 kilometres (117.83 mi) with 142 stations of which 35 are underground. It has a combination of elevated, at-grade and underground lines and uses both broad gauge and standard gauge rolling stock. Four types of rolling stock are used: Mitsubishi-ROTEM Broad gauge, Bombardier MOVIA, Mitsubishi-ROTEM Standard gauge and CAF Beasain Standard gauge.

Delhi Metro is being built and operated by the Delhi Metro Rail Corporation Limited (DMRC). As of November 2010, DMRC operates around 2,700 trips daily between 6:00 and 23:00 running with an interval of 2 minutes 30 seconds between trains at peak frequency. The trains are mainly of four coaches, but due to increase in passengers numbers, six-coach trains are also added on the Red Line (Dilshad Garden to Rithala), Yellow Line (Jahangirpuri to HUDA city centre), Blue Line (Dwarka sec-21 to Vaishali/NOIDA city centre) and Violet Line (Central Secretariat to Badarpur). The power output is supplied by 25-kilovolt, 50 Hertz alternating current through overhead catenary. The metro has an average daily ridership of 1.8 million commuters, and, as of July 2011, had carried over 1.25 billion commuters since its inception. The Delhi Metro Rail Corporation has been certified by the United Nations as the first metro rail and rail-based system in the world to get “carbon credits for reducing greenhouse gas emissions” and helping in reducing pollution levels in the city by 630,000 tons (630 Gg) every year.

Akshardham Temple

Swaminarayan Akshardham in New Delhi epitomises 10,000 years of Indian culture in all its breathtaking grandeur, beauty, wisdom and bliss. It brilliantly showcases the essence of India’s ancient architecture, traditions and timeless spiritual messages. The Akshardham experience is an enlightening journey through India’s glorious art, values and contributions for the progress, happiness and harmony of mankind.

The grand, ancient-styled Swaminarayan Akshardham complex was built in only five years through the blessings of HDH Pramukh Swami Maharaj of the Bochasanwasi Shri Akshar Purushottam Swaminarayan Sanstha (BAPS) and the colossal devotional efforts of 11,000 artisans and BAPS volunteers.

Akshardham means the eternal, divine abode of the supreme God, the abode of eternal values and virtues of Akshar as defined in the Vedas and Upanishads where divine bhakti, purity and peace forever pervades. For the first time ever in the world witness the heritage of India in all its facets, insights and beauty at the Swaminarayan Akshardham through its mandir, exhibitions, verdant gardens and other attractions.

AIOC 2015 - General Guidelines for Oral Presentations

A. Presentation Standards

- You can use your own laptop for your presentation. The preview room facility will also be available.
- The official language is English. All presentations must be in English.
- An electronically generated presentation using Microsoft PowerPoint version up to 2010 for Windows users and Keynote for Apple Macintosh is the standard. No other format will be accepted.
- Mike & PC will automatically switch off after 6 minutes for Free Papers.
- Appropriate trial runs & checking in the preview room is necessary to avoid any hitch.
- Financial disclosure is made mandatory on the 2nd slide of every presentation.

B. Preview Room

- The room is well equipped to preview your presentation, modify it, and copy it. Trained and pleasant audiovisual staff will assist you with any needs that you may have regarding your presentation.
- Presentation can be submitted in absentia by your co-author/representative.

C. The Session Room Environment

- Every hall will have two lecterns and kindly ensure the next speaker is ready with his presentation on the lectern that is not occupied.
- The lecterns are equipped with a lectern microphone, laser pointer, light, slide advancement control (or a laptop) and timer warning.
- Please reach the auditorium at least 15 minutes before the beginning of your session and get familiarized with the stage and lectern setting.
- Please meet your chairpersons before the session begins and introduce yourself.
- DO NOT exceed your allotted time for presentation.
- Presentations exceeding the time limit may not be considered for an Award.
- Change of Presenter, without the permission of the Chairman Scientific Committee well in advance, or last minute request for change in presenting author at the venue will not be allowed and not eligible for any award.

If you are not a member or a non-ratified member, before presentation, please inform the Chairman & Co-Chairman to indicate the same in the mark sheet. If the paper presenter is a non-member or non-ratified member, that paper/eposter/video will NOT BE EVALUATED/MARKED and not eligible for any AIOS AWARD.

Upto AIOS Membership No.16700 were ratified at AIOC2014, Agra.

3 – PS (PERFECTING PHACO PRACTICE)
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. YOGESH C SHAH [S04886] - Mumbai

Introduction Phaco is gold standard procedure for cataract to achieve refractive results post surgery. Understanding the technology & technique of surgery are of vital importance to achieve perfection. AIM The aim is to impart knowledge of important steps of Phaco procedure and how to implement them in practice for perfection, avoid complications and achieve desired results consistently. VAST & active participation of attendees is high light of the course. STRUCTURE Video of important pearls for achieving rhexis that can almost mimic Femto rhexis, proceeding for safe phaco with inadequate rhexis, Description of each terminology and its importance, adjustments of parameters to assist high vacuum low energy phaco, Nucleus procedures, anticipating, preventing & managing intra-operative anterior and posterior chamber complications, managing difficult situations & role of Femto will be covered BENEFITS Attendees will resolve their doubts, clear myths and carry home important pearls

REFRACTIVE DILEMMAS IN HIGH AMETROPIA- A CASE BASED DISCUSSION
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RIDHIMA BHAGALI [B11770] - Pune

High refractive errors, they maybe myopia, hypermetropia or astigmatism, often pose a challenge to the refractive surgeon. Can one proceed with just a corneal laser refractive procedure or is it necessary to combine it with corneal collagen cross-linking? When does one opt for an ICL or refractive lens surgery instead? What are the results with piggyback and sulcoflex implants? In the presbyopic age group, does a multifocal implant supersede all else? What procedure is safer when the patient has a coexisting glaucoma or retinal disease? We aim to answer all these questions in an interesting, case-based, panel discussion. We would discuss the choice of procedure with its pros and cons relevant to the patient's age-group, lifestyle, ocular aberrations and co-morbidities. Audience questions and participation will be encouraged.

Clinical manifestations and management of endophthalmitis vary depending on the mode of infection, virulence of the organism and the special situation. Infection following intravitreal injection has specifics different from that following cataract surgery; that following intravitreal steroid has features distinct from post anti-VEGF injection. Endogenous endophthalmitis is a clinical challenge that requires a high index of suspicion. Neonatal endophthalmitis has specific management protocol. Management of associated scleral or corneal involvement, and advanced vitreo-retinal surgery may allow salvaging many otherwise desperate eyes. Finally, diagnosis and management in unusual situations still requires on-the-spot thinking, and customised approach. These and several other evidence-based pearls will be presented and discussed. At the end of the course the delegate will be better able to make an early diagnosis of endophthalmitis and formulate an effective management plan.

PRACTICAL EVIDENCE-BASED PEARLS IN THE DIAGNOSIS AND MANAGEMENT OF ENDOPHTHALMITIS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. MALLIKA GOYAL [G06230] - Hyderabad

This instruction course will be a video assisted teaching course which will be of immense learning value to attendees who wish to learn and master the various techniques of ptosis surgery. Each ptosis case is challenging and could possibly be managed weighing a lot of parameters into consideration which may vary from surgeon to surgeon, however significant doubts and controversies still exist in managing different types of ptosis despite recent advances. In this instruction course we intend to cover up all the clinical and surgical aspect of ptosis management beginning from ptosis evaluation, to all the major types of ptosis surgeries like Levator placation, Levator resection - skin approach, conjunctival approach, fascia lata sling surgery, silicon sling ptosis surgery . Interactive session about management of complications after ptosis surgery will also be covered followed by ample time for audience to discuss their queries with eminent oculoplastic surgeons from india.

Evaluation of ptosis – areas to look 8 mins.
Levator resection [conjunctival approach ] – my way 8 mins.
Levator Plication - A Safe And Innovative Alternative 8 mins.
Silicone frontalis sling – Popular choice 8 mins.
Fascia lata sling – The gold standard 8 mins.

OPTIMIZING IOL SELECTION FOR IDEAL VISUAL OUTCOME.
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. VIRENDRA AGRAWAL [A05617] - Jaipur

Cataract surgery has been performed since recorded history of medical science. However, it has significantly evolved in the recent decades. Given the changing lifestyles, patients are highly demanding and achieving emmetropia is the primary expected outcome of cataract surgeries. Given the range of choice in IOLs such as Monofocal and Premium IOLs (e.g., Toric, multifocal and Accommodative), it gets confusing for patients to pick the best match. The strengths of the IOL needs to be matched with the patients' needs and wants for visual functioning. Explanation of difference between various options and their respective benefits and weaknesses can help patient make the right choice of IOL. For instance, missing the irregular astigmatism and implanting a Toric IOL in that patient could misfire. Also a Multifocal IOL might not be as satisfactory for patients where postoperative glare is a major concern. Proper education for patients and right approach of the surgeon can increase the number of satisfactory surgical outcomes.

HOW TO SET UP & MANAGE RETINOPATHY OF PREMATURITY & INFANT UNIVERSAL EYE SCREENING PROGRAMS IN INDIA
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. ANAND VINEKAR [V10089] - Bangalore

With over 27 million live births annually in India & 3.5 million babies being premature, infant & childhood blindness programs are woefully inadequate. Since 1995 when retinopathy of prematurity (ROP) was first reported prospectively, screening has predominantly been limited to larger cities, where referred or in-house infants are offered screening. This scenario exposes a vast majority of 'outreach' infants at risk of blindness. Since 2007 however, this has changed. Pioneered in Karnataka, ROP screening programs are now using portable digital imaging cameras to screen infants in the outreach centers. This instruction course brings together these program leaders who have faced and conquered some of these challenges of setting up, managing and expanding these programs and met newer difficulties during their experience. The course gives a practical roadmap for those interested in setting up or improving their existing infant screening program- both ROP and universal infant eye screening.

Course will detail on all conceivable controversies in refractive surgery with management guidelines, clinical illustrations and video base. Topographic dilemmas and their treatment strategies and combining with cross linking in indicated cases would clue one to treat those dissatisfied patients. Controversies in case selections would be illustrated with clear cut management guidelines. Flap challenges which bring us to crossroads would be dealt along with ICL dilemmas and solutions. Flap lift or PRK as modality for enhancement has been a hot topic and would be analysed succinctly. IOL calculation discrepancies has never given conclusive thoughts and would be handled comprehensively and finally controversies with iatrogenic ectasia management would be dealt threadbare.

BEYOND CATARACT AND CAMPS - THE KERALA MODEL
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Thomas Cherian [T07267] - Angamaly

Community Eye care delivery has been traditionally through camps. Of late, Vision Centres and pyramidal models have become the gold standard. But in a state like Kerala with the maximum literary rates and high indices of health care, the needs of the society are different. Diseases like glaucoma, ROP, Diabetic Retinopathy etc. which are potentially blinding are still undetected and untreated to a large extent. Refractive errors and eye diseases among school children have not been addressed to the extent needed. A programme which includes Glaucoma screening, School screening, ROP screening, Diabetic Retinopathy screening and use of Telemedicine facilities form the backbone of the model. Tertiary care accessibility to the underserved is also high in the priority list. The participants will have a lot to learn and contribute to this model.

MANAGEMENT OF POSTERIOR CAPSULAR TEAR (PCT) FROM PRIMARY TO TERTIARY CARE INSTITUTIONS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SHASHI NATH JHA (S4140) - Delhi

Surgery is the standard of care for cataract patients all over the world. We promise an early visual rehabilitation from the first post-operative day, which has led to an increased expectation of the patient. Posterior capsule tear (PCT) may compromise not only the expected outcome but may also cause serious complications and sleepless nights for the surgeon, if not managed properly. The incidence of PCT goes down as the surgeon develops a better understanding of the equipment and his surgical skill improves. If beginners are able to understand the causes and factors responsible for PCT, they can take essential steps to prevent its occurrence. Our aim is to analyze how and why PCT takes place and in case it occurs, how can we have a surgical outcome comparable to an uncomplicated surgery, in terms of good visual outcome, early visual rehabilitation and prevention of secondary consequences of PCT right from the primary to tertiary centers.

Keynote address by Dr. MILIND PANDE: Refractive Cataract Surgery
Central serous chorioretinopathy is common retinal disorder with good visual prognosis. It has varied types of clinical presentations from simple macular detachment to extensive sub retinal fibrin and exudative retinal detachment. About 10% of patients go in for severe visual loss. Usually the Atypical forms of the disease is misdiagnosed and wrongly treated. With the new investigative modalities like High definition OCT and ICG angiography, identifying the varied clinical features and diagnosing the atypical forms have become easier. Also the advent of low fluence PDT and sub threshold Transpupillary Thermotherapy has helped us to treat most of the patients who otherwise would go blind. This course will help the participants in identifying the diagnostic and imaging features and also sensitise them to the newer treatment modalities and their application in clinical practice.

Oculoplasty is an interesting sub-specialty of Ophthalmology that deals with the eyelids, orbit and lacrimal apparatus. Appropriate clinical evaluation is required to perform the relevant surgical procedure. Traditional teaching in Oculoplasty has been in the form of photographs and surgical videos. These however have their own limitations in terms of understanding the 3-dimensional nature of the analysis or the surgical procedure. The 3D Oculoplasty show intends to take the audience through a journey of basic clinic-based evaluation techniques and surgical Oculoplasty procedures that are relevant to the Ophthalmologist. The display would be real time 3D, demonstrated with a large 3D TV screen, and 3-D glasses. Special requirements such as a dark room facility, and limited registrations for the show would be necessary. The TV screen and 3D glasses shall be provided by the Instructor. The audience will enjoy real-like presence in the Oculoplasty clinic and operation room!

Even in this era of unprecedented advances in the field of ophthalmic diagnostics and therapeutics, childhood blindness remains a major challenge. Patients routinely approaching hospital/clinic practice reflect only the tip of the iceberg of this population which has grotesque dimensions at the community level. This instruction course aims at providing awareness among the general ophthalmologists regarding the approach to a pediatric patient with low vision/blindness and rehabilitation using visual aids/surgery. Results of population based screening conducted among the school going population, visually-impaired school population, anganwadi children, children with multiple disabilities and hospital based screening for retinopathy of prematurity are also included. A special focus on screening using WHO-prevention of blindness protocol and low vision rehabilitation is also intended.

No other "one" high end equipment in ophthalmology can be used for diagnosis and management of numerous anterior segment disorders like the Anterior Segment OCT. Details of how Anterior Segment OCT can assist in management of Keratoconus, Acute Hydrops, visualization of post C3R demarcation line, depth of intra corneal rings, lasik flaps, planning repeat lasik, planning PK, depth of corneal scars, keratitis and depth of corneal ulcers will be discussed. Delegates will get an insight into planning femtosecond cataract surgery, capsular bag distension syndrome, anterior synoechia, IOL power calculation in Post Lasik patients, management of pterygium and anterior segment tumors with the help of Anterior Segment OCT. Angle assessment in angle closure glaucoma and calculation of vault size of ICL are few of the many things anterior segment OCT can help in. Delegates will be given pictorial CDs for easy reference.

CROSSROADS: CAREER CHOICES FOR YOUNG OPHTHALMOLOGISTS TODAY
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. VIDUSHI SHARMA [S07308] - Kota

This interactive instruction course will attempt to provide an overview of the career choices available to a young ophthalmologist today. In the fast changing scenario of Indian ophthalmology, a variety of career choices are available (e.g. solo practice, group practice, corporate chain, academic institute in India or overseas ophthalmology) with pros and cons for each option. The ophthalmology practice pattern are changing and new forms of practice consolidations, practice merger and acquisitions, are emerging. This course in an attempt to bridge the gap between current ophthalmology residency and fellowship training and the requirements of starting a successful practice by choosing a suitable option. The instructors drawn from different forms (field) of ophthalmology practice will be sharing practical pearls of what each field entails and the way to go about on any of these different paths. Attendees will be actively encouraged to participate in discussion by asking queries.

Neuro-ophthalmology is a perplexing field with plenty of grey areas without well established guidelines for diagnosis and treatment. The specialty is riddled with controversies regarding management and general ophthalmologists suffer the brunt. This course will use cases, to explore the common neuro-ophthalmic conditions: their various presentations, investigative approaches and management. It will be conducted in a case-discussion style and will include interactive sessions with the audience. The course module will cover comprehensively the commonly seen neuro-ophthalmology disorders including optic neuritis, disc edema and pupillary abnormalities besides covering contemporary concepts such as the use of OCT and newer radio-imaging techniques. The case based discussions will help the audience learn practical approaches to the diagnosis and treatment of these disorders.

RETINOBLASTOMA-EXPLORING NEW HORIZONS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. BHAVNA CHAWLA [C08835] - New Delhi

Retinoblastoma is the most common intraocular malignancy seen in children. Its management has witnessed major advances in recent times. Improvements in diagnostic imaging have facilitated accurate tumor staging. There is an increasing trend worldwide towards globe salvage and vision preservation. In addition to systemic chemotherapy, local routes of drug delivery like intra-arterial and intra-vitreal chemotherapy are being successfully used. A major challenge faced by the developing world is advanced presentation. In orbital disease, a multi-modal treatment approach has improved survival outcomes. This instruction course aims to provide a comprehensive overview of various diagnostic & treatment modalities available for RB. Recent advances will be highlighted with the help of lectures and video-assisted teaching. At the end of the course, participants will become familiar with newer therapeutic modalities for RB and will acquire an enhanced ability to take management-related decisions.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. LAHANE TATYARAO PUNDLIKRAO [L05243] - Mumbai

This Basic course of Phaco-emulsification will deal with video demonstration of Phacodynamics in all types of pumps. While purchasing phacomachine what are the essential things you ask the vendor. It will video demonstrate how to use recent phaco-technologies for emulsification of different types of cataract. How to manage PC tear by anterior vitrectomy in the interior places. Course will also demonstrate how to overcome problems faced by beginners. Video demonstration of basic but essential step like tunnel, Rhexis and Hydrodissection. Course will video demonstrate techniques to emulsify soft nucleus, mature cataract, hard nucleus, Black cataract, posterior polar cataract and hypermature cataract. Course will also guide what to do when complication occurs in some of the steps. Course is designed for beginners and all the phacosurgeons to overcome day to day difficulties. Lastly there will be question answer session for 15 minutes.

Current Paradigms in the Diagnosis and Management of Vitreoretinal Interface Disorders

The recent development in vitreoretina is the understanding of the vitreomacular interface(VMI) using Spectral Domain Optical coherence tomography(SD-OCT) and the changing paradigms in the management of VMI disorders. This course will give an overview of the diagnosis and management of VMI disorders with case examples, video demonstration of surgical techniques including complications, followed by panel discussion. The course is divided into: SD-OCT morphology, classification of VMI and Vitreomacular traction(VMT), Lamellar macular holes-SD-OCT features-when will I suggest surgery and surgical technique, How early will I operate on full thickness macular holes(FTMH), Improving outcomes in FTMH surgery, Macular Pucker: How do I decide on surgical intervention, Tractional Diabetic macular edema, Ocriplasmin in management of symptomatic VMI. The course will benefit practising Vitreoretina surgeons and those in training.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RAMESH MURTHY [M08054] - Pune

In this video based course we plan to outline and highlight all the common socket problems both congenital and acquired and the management of these. In the congenital age group microphthalmos and anophthalmos will be discussed highlighting the non surgical and surgical management. Surgeries like evisceration, enucleation, mucus and dermis fat graft will be demonstrated and discussed. Contracted socket remains a tough problem to treat and newer techniques of surgical management will be highlighted. Important tips on implants, their types and recent innovations will be stressed in this instruction course. Lastly rehabilitation by a custom made prosthesis - the techniques of creation will be highlighted. This course is aimed at both the general ophthalmologist to help them guide the patients better and the oculoplasty surgeon to help them rethink strategies and learn innovative surgical techniques.

MODERN POSTERIOR CHAMBER PHAKIC IOLS - ARE THEY BETTER AND SAFER THAN BEFORE
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SANJAY CHAUDHARY [C03469] - New Delhi

Posterior chamber Phakic IOLs are ready to open up a whole new range of refractive correction, well beyond the limits of Lasik. They can correct myopia of up to 20 D, hyperopia of up to 10 D and cylinders of up to 6 D. They can also be used in situations like thin cornea's and stable Keratconus. Some have also used it to correct Amblyopia in children with high anisometropia. However, their proximity to the crystalline send jitters down an ophthalmologists spine. Ophthalmologists are keen to know what is the long term experience of surgeons using this lens, as also their experiences with the modern innovations which are expected to make them safer and more user friendly. The course is directed to show the present implantation techniques, planning a procedure, the do's and dont's, the detailed theory behind a simple 7 minutes procedure, and sharing an eight year experience of implanting over a 1000 of these lenses

MEDICOLEGAL CHALLENGES IN OPHTHALMIC PRACTICE – SAVING YOUR MONEY, MEDICINE & PEACE OF MIND
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. NIRMAL FREDRICK T [N07958] - Chennai

Gone are the days when doctors were considered next to GOD. Compensation costs awarded to patients are rapidly becoming prohibitive. When faced with a malpractice lawsuit, fear of the unknown makes you uneasy about the entire experience. There is no textbook, educational class, or Internet site that will tell you how to proceed with your case. Improper or delayed diagnosis has been reported as the cause of 35% of claims and 63% of patient indemnification cases in ophthalmology practice. The legal basis for professional liability is not well appreciated by many Ophthalmologists and therefore confusion abounds on the definitions of negligence and malpractice. Many problems related to medical malpractice stem from insufficient communication between doctors and patients. In conclusion, the Instruction course will focus on appraising the doctors on following regulatory guidelines relevant to medical practice, develop good patient communications and maintain comprehensive medical records.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. (MRS ) KASTURI BHATTACHARJEE [B07299] - Guwahati

The human face is composed of small functional and cosmetic units such as forehead, eyelids, cheek, nose, lips and neck. Aging of one or more of the oculofacial units lead not only to facial imbalance but also functional disharmony. Understanding the basic changes of aging in relation to the anatomy and physiology of the oculofacial units is extremely important in deciding the mode of management. This instruction course will present the dynamics of oculofacial aging changes and will highlight the principles of aesthetic lid surgeries having twofold implication of cosmetic and functional corrections. Moreover it will demonstrate the newer oculofacial surgical procedures in relation to blepharoplasty, brow lift, forehead lift and aesthetic lid approach for functional oculoplasty. The course will help the oculofacial ophthalmic plastic surgeon develop a framework to improve patient selection, patient communication and expectation management with enhanced surgical judgment and skill.

SCLERAL FIXATION OF IOL WITH AND WITHOUT FIBRIN GLUE: WHEN AND HOW?
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. AVNINDRA GUPTA [G06870] - Faridabad

In patients with subluxated or dislocated lenses or IOLs, ruptured capsules or zonular dialysis and aphakia with absent capsular support, it is a challenge to put a posterior chamber IOL. Scleral fixed IOLs suffer from disadvantages such as suture erosion/ breakage, prolonged surgical time and induced astigmatism. A novel technique of IOL fixation with fibrin glue has gained popularity in the last few years in which the IOL haptics are tucked into scleral pockets created under scleral flaps 180 degrees away from each other. This ensures IOL stability, prevents sideward and up & down movement and avoids phacodonesis. Reduced surgical time and use of same IOL are the other advantages. Modifications by various surgeons have helped to perfect this technique which is fast gaining popularity. This instruction course using live videos is aimed at introducing IOL fixation using fibrin glue to increase awareness of this innovation and give benefit to many more patients and surgeons.

DNA testing is prevalent for detecting familial hereditary patterns of disease. This course will review the basic concepts of genetics, its terminology and importance in ophthalmology. It will concentrate on the present and future role of genetic testing in the diagnosis of hereditary ophthalmic disorders. This information will eventually allow selection of a therapy based upon a person's genome, including DNA exchange for mutant genes. Epigenetics, the altering of gene expression in an individual and its progeny caused by mechanisms other than changes in the underlying DNA sequence will be discussed. The status of stem cell tissue replacement for corneal and retinal disease and injury will be included. The proper approach for counseling families with hereditary ocular disorders will be presented. The faculty is composed of experts in the genetics of glaucoma, corneal and retinal disorders.

Objective: Attendees will better understand genetic and stem cell terminology and therapies.

Background Eyelid tumors are among the most easily observed and recognised tumors, both benign and malignant. Most are amenable to surgery, with good outcomes. All ophthalmologists should be able to identify and initiate management of eyelid tumors well, drastically reducing morbidity. Objective This IC takes the participants through a series of cases, which classically illustrate the steps of eyelid tumor management. There are no didactic lectures. Each case opens up the discussion of the sequential discussion of: identifying benign or malignant, investigation, gold-standard surgery, reconstruction and additional modalities. The cases are accompanied by surgical steps and videos wherever appropriate. Each presentation includes interaction and input from entire faculty. Every presentation concludes with a set of take-home lessons for the practitioner.

LOW VISION CARE – A JOINED UP, INTEGRATED, MULTI-DISCIPLINARY APPROACH FOR VISUALLY IMPAIRED
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.RAHUL DESHPANDE [D10304] - Pune

A recent population based study has shown the prevalence of low vision to be 1.05% in India. It has been observed that almost 90% of those considered blind retain a degree of potentially useful residual vision. Thus they are wrongly falling in blind group people. Reports indicate that only 3% of all blind and visually impaired children in developing countries have access to basic low vision care. The major limitations in the delivery of low vision care in the developing world are lack of emphasis on low vision in existing eye care programme, lack of awareness among eye care professionals and community, non-availability of good quality, low vision training programs. To tackle this problem it is very necessary to carry out low vision instruction courses so that well trained, low vision department can be established in tertiary eye care centre. Low vision instruction course will deal with various aspect of low vision services. It will cover introduction to low vision, various causes of low vision, assessment of a patient with low vi

ENDOPHTHALMITIS – DIAGNOSIS AND MANAGEMENT- BEYOND THE EVS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.PRAMOD SADASHIORAO BHENDE [S04764] - Chennai

Endophthalmitis is a vision threatening ocular inflammation that can be either infective or sterile. The EVS, a landmark study of its kind, provided guidelines for a select group of post operative endophthalmitis. All cases of endophthalmitis may not present in the textbook fashion. Non inflammatory conditions may mimic endophthalmitis making the diagnosis and management challenging. This course intends to use case scenarios to help the audience to learn to differentiate and manage both infective and sterile endophthalmitis secondary to different aetiological factors and also to recognise masquerades.

A SNEAK PEAK INTO THE WORLD OF LOW VISION – EVALUATION AND MANAGEMENT ASPECTS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. ILANGO K [I07460] - Madurai

Worldwide for each blind person, an average of 3.4 people has low vision. Low vision is an impairment of visual function that cannot be remedied by conventional spectacles, contact lenses or medical intervention and which causes restriction in everyday life. Older people with sight loss are almost three times more likely to experience depression and more likely to fall. Losing vision does not mean giving up your activities, but it does mean finding new ways of doing them. Low vision devices help these patients maximise their remaining vision and live independently. Other components include training in use of vision and other senses, mobility, activities of daily living, and support for education, employment or leisure activities. Low vision clinic staff needs to be aware of the range of specialist and community-based services that are available. This instruction course will help the attendees get an insight into the causes of low vision in children and adults, how to evaluate a person with low vision and basic management strategies inclu

CHASING DOWN THE ASTIGMATISM
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. MUKESH TANEJA [T06594] - Delhi

Though most of the ophthalmologists understand the problem of astigmatism but they have a somewhat inadequate understanding about the basic concepts of astigmatism and consequently they do not feel very comfortable with the strategies available for the management of astigmatism. In this instruction course, we would discuss the basics of Astigmatism in simple language whereby the concepts of Surgically Induced Astigmatism and Vector Analysis will be simplified and explained with examples. Different speakers will elucidate on the different management strategies of Astigmatism which would include manual incisions like LRI, clear corneal incisions, arcuate incisions. In additions surgical strategies of Toric IOLs and Toric ICLs for getting optimal refractive outcomes will be discussed along with surgical videos. New techniques like Femtosecond laser assisted Astigmatic Keratotomy will be discussed along with nomograms and different real life case situations along with topographic analysis.

APPLIED CLINICAL OCULAR GENETICS FOR THE OPHTHALMOLOGIST
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. KARTHIKEYAN [K09630] - Madurai

Genetics is making huge strides on a daily basis and ophthalmology has been at the forefront in all aspects of genetics including gene therapy. The course will provide the participant with the clinical implications of applying genetics in everyday clinical practice. The course has talks both by national and international faculties who are either geneticists/Ocular geneticists or specialists who have a strong background of applied genetics in their work. The course will discuss the clinical and genetic implications of a spectrum of important anterior segment, posterior segment, ocular motility disorders and retinoblastoma. The course will throw light on concepts of molecular genetic testing. Recent advances in technology and current research areas for treatment will be highlighted. The aim of the course is to make genetics a more approachable and simpler subject and discuss how a general ophthalmologist can apply the basics of genetics in practice and immensely benefit the society.

OPTIC DISC EDEMA; WHAT NEXT?
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. NIKHIL CHOUDHARI [C11190] - Hyderabad

All ophthalmologists are confronted at some time with a swollen optic disc. Optic disc edema can be a manifestation of a life threatening medical condition that must be dealt with urgently. Optic disc swelling can be caused by a number of conditions but one cannot differentiate one cause from another only on the basis of its ophthalmoscopic appearance! This course is intended to exposit how the ophthalmologist can make a significant difference to the life of a patient with optic disc edema. The course will describe differentiation between true and pseudo disc edema and the differential diagnosis and management of unilateral optic disc edema, bilateral optic disc edema and papilledema. Interactive short case presentations and high quality multimedia content would be the highlight of the course. The experts in the field will also offer practical tips to the audience during a panel discussion.

The cataracts in India are becoming softer, the economy is getting better and phaco machines and foldable IOL’s are touching affordability. Having learned Manual SICS, we need to convert to a more satisfying phacoemulsification procedure. This instruction course is by an institution which is actively involved in Phaco training, offers a step-by-step conversion from Manual SICS to phacoemulsification through video assisted teaching materials. The course includes common learning problems as recorded through the trainee’s performance to the effective management of the situation by the supervising experienced phaco surgeon. Using the SICS nucleus in goat’s eye to practice the steps in phacoemulsification is shown through video assisted teaching. The basics of phaco dynamics is explained through animation. The various steps, rhexis, automated IA, incision, sideports, nuclear rotation, trenching, cracking quadrant emulsification and chopping are explained with videos and animation.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.ARUP CHAKRABARTI [A04119] - Trivandrum

At the end of the course attendee will become competent in managing dissatisfied patients who have less than perfect outcomes after uneventful & uncomplicated cataract surgery(CS). Course will deal with the various causes of less than perfect outcomes after uneventful & uncomplicated CS & to formulate a game plan to deal with these disgruntled postoperative patients. Topics covered include common causes of poor visual outcome after an uncomplicated CS, patient specific factors, such as diabetes and old age, ocular surface disease, keratitis medicamentosa, undetected preop astigmatism, problems in patients with multifocal IOL implants, early PCO , negative & positive dysphotopsia, vitreous opacities after phaco, IOL decentration due to button holing, capsular bag decentration/dislocation, unexpected postop. ametropia and subtle macular pathologies. The importance of a thorough evaluation to rule out the entities responsible as well as preop. counseling will be emphasized.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. NAMRATA SHARMA [S05577] - Noida

This course will highlight clinical and microbiologic work up of a case of corneal ulcer. It will elucidate when to use combination versus monotherapy in cases of bacterial corneal ulcers. The surgical technique of newer routes of treatment such as intracorneal and intracameral therapy for fungal keratitis with antifungal agents such as voriconazole would be highlighted. Various manifestations of viral keratitis will be discussed and its management issues will be discussed. The various types of parasitic keratitis, investigational tools required to diagnose them and their management strategies will be elucidated. Surgical management of corneal ulcer will be demonstrated in videos which would highlight the exact method of glue and amniotic membrane application, patch grafts, tenon’s graft and therapeutic deep anterior lamellar and penetrating keratoplasty. Case records of infectious keratitis will be shown and panel and audience participation will be done.

VITREO RETINA KNOW HOW FOR ANTERIOR SEGMENT SURGEONS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RUPAK KANTI BISWAS [B10264] - Kolkata

For anterior segment surgeon, challenges in cataract surgery lie not in the routine management of cataract, but in the proper and scientific management of complex scenarios. Situation like cataract surgery in eyes with diabetic maculopathy, prevalence being 6-7%, needs special approach for managing them. Post operative Endophthalmitis (incidence 0.02-0.05 %), a devastating complication asks for a prompt intervention by anterior segment surgeons for better recovery. PC rent with nucleus drop occurs only in 1.5-2% cases, but an improper technique can complicate the situation even further. In this video assisted course, we will bring those situations and discuss the rational way of overcoming them by anterior segment surgeons. Free CD containing the presentations will be distributed during the course.

UNMASKING THE MASQUERADERS! - UNUSUAL PRESENTATIONS OF COMMON POSTERIOR SEGMENT DISEASES
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. ANAND RAJENDRAN [R11483] - Madurai

A plethora of common posterior segment diseases present with atypical features, which make their recognition and consequently, management, challenging. The course aims to familiarise the audience with these protean manifestations of common retinal diseases through an interactive, case – based and didactic lecture series portraying unusual presentations of diabetic retinopathy, pediatric retinal diseases, macular diseases , posterior segment tumours and posterior uveitic pathologies. Imparting vital clinical pearls and the optimal use of investigative modalities to clinch the diagnosis will be the focus of the course. Often it is the recognition of these atypical presentations which is the most formidable step in their management. At the conclusion of the course, delegates will be better equipped to discern and manage the complex presentations of common retinal and uveitic pathologies that they may encounter in their clinical practice.

GET THE MIDAS TOUCH IN STRABISMUS SURGERY - YEARS OF EXPERIENCE OR SHEER LUCK?
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RAMAKRISHNAN SUBRAMANIAM [S15102] - Coimbatore

Success in strabismus surgery revolves around a careful preoperative examination and meticulous surgical technique. That apart, many consider strabismus surgery to a mathematical equation. Recourse may be taken to standard tables in the beginning, but each surgeon has to painfully work out the numbers that suit him after analysing his experience. This course starts with a beginners guide to understand the numbers, which is followed by a talk on difficult situations where the standard numbers will not do the job. To make the numbers produce the desired results, one needs to develop a smooth surgical technique. The third topic deals with preventing and managing complications so as to achieve the desired results. In spite of careful planning and execution, the results can go awry and a re-surgery may be required and this is exactly what the next topic deals with. Finally the guidelines will be summarised by a highly experienced strabismus surgeon.

Today's cataract surgery is not only clearing the media but achieving emmetropia, which starts at the stage of IOL calculation. Extreme accuracy is needed in High Hypermetropes Myopes and operated refractive surgery cases. The surgeon needs to be skilled at multiple methods for correcting residual ametropia after the surgery. Patients with a significant postoperative refractive error have three options for correction. First is IOL exchange, best performed early in the postoperative course before the capsular bag adhesions have formed. Potential complications include PC rupture and zonular dialysis. 2nd option is Laser refractive surgery, best accomplished when the refractive error is stable but is not a viable option in patients with abnormal corneal topography or preexisting higher order aberrations. The third option is the implantation of piggyback IOL, which works best in patients with late intervention, the patient should have a stable PCIOL within an intact capsular bag, a normal or deep anterior chamber, a normal corneal.

LRCS represents a potential paradigm shift in cataract surgery, but it is not without controversy. The large costs involved and claims that similar results are achievable with phacoemulsification will be dealt with by the first speaker. The physics & options available for LRCS followed by a detailed description of the procedure with videos will be presented. Subsequently LRCS in different scenarios will be shown with their merits & demerits. The procedure is considered to be in its infancy & the exciting developments in the horizon will be covered. Finally all the important marketing & economics of the procedure will be considered. The presentations will be strictly limited to 60 minutes & 25 minutes will be allowed for audience interaction. All the speakers are well known Cataract surgeons of the country & all of them except the first have a wealth of experience with LRCS. Modern management of keratoconus (KC) is challenging, confusing and controversial. Our aim is to propose a systematic algorithmic approach in managing KC. We have simplified it to call it the ‘5 point nomogram’. Varied treatment protocols are available but a decision making nomogram which allows selection of the most suitable treatment for a particular grade of KC is unavailable. The 5 point nomogram includes: 1. The demographic scoring of the patient 2. Contact lens tolerance 3. Management of progressive keratoconus 4. When everything else fails – Advance keratoconus 5. Visual rehabilitation This course will be case and video based. The participants will be provided handouts and a CD.

Keynote Address by Natalya Maychuk: Topography Guided PRK in Patients with Keratoconus After Cross Linking and Intracorneal Ring Segment Implantation

Understanding of DM and DR has changed a great deal. Intravitreal drugs, new technology for surgery and retinal investigations have changed indications and outcome of medical/surgical t/t. New studies have added to DRS, ETDRS, DRVS. This course critically combines new and old information and experience of faculty to present a standardized approach to treat DR in its all forms. Are anti VEGF/steroids the final answer? Do we need to redefine CSME and refractory edema? Is focal and diffuse edema the right concept? Should we do vitrectomy at first sign of traction for best results? Is ETDRS-PRP too high a dose, can we use OCT to titrate laser dose in each case? While giving standard information this course answers to all these controversies. Format of course is interactive, not lecture form, so as to share experience of each faculty on every issue. Free delegate/faculty interaction is part of the course design. Every statement by faculty is supported by excellent documentation and long follow up.

Diabetic retinopathy is one of the leading cause of vision loss in patients. Till date lasers have been the back bone of treatment of these patients; with treatment protocols having been established by large scale clinical trials like ETDRS and DRVS study. With the advancement in diagnostic technology (High definition OCTs) and treatment options (AntiVEGFs, steroid implants), the management of diabetic retinopathy has taken a drastic change. As the number of treatment options have increased, the clarity in guidelines to manage diabetic retinopathy has decreased. Through this Instruction course we would like to put into perspective the management of diabetic retinopathy, incorporating these newer advancements and provide the audience with a comprehensive step vise protocol to manage these patients better.

IOL POWER CALCULATIONS IN OPTICALLY COMPROMISED CORNEAS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.MUKESH PARYANI [P16420] - Pune

In this refractive surgery era, a higher proportion of post Refractive surgery patients developing cataract will present to clinics. This instruction course will deal with IOL power calculations in optically compromised corneas i.e corneas that have undergone prior refractive surgery. This will include post-LASIK, post-RK, post-PRK. The anatomical and functional changes that are induced by refractive surgery and its effect on IOL power calculation will be discussed first. This will be followed by overview of recent advances in diagnostics modalities that are required for IOL power calculation in these cases. Case based examples of how to approach and reach to best possible IOL power and select appropriate IOL will be shown.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.GAURAV Y SHAH [S08255] - Mumbai

Photography and video documentation of ocular diseases and procedures is of immense importance for medico-legal implications, patient education, counseling, scientific presentations and publications. Advancements in technology have now made these feasible and cost effective for everyone. This instruction course deals with the entire spectrum of photography and video recording using conventional cameras as well as smartphones for anterior as well as posterior segments of the eye. Details of all required gadgets along with its technique and technology will be illustrated. Live demonstration of video editing to prepare a 8 minute scientific video will also be covered. Emphasis will be given to techniques that can be easily replicated, are low cost and do not need additional manpower or expertise.

Introduction of I.C. and speakers
Smartphone for Anterior Segment Photography
Smartphone for Fundus Photography
Advances in microscopes to optimize surgical recordings for anterior segment surgery

A PRACTICAL APPROACH TO OCULAR SURFACE REHABILITATION
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.ASHOK SHARMA [A04284] - Chandigarh

In the past two decades several newer surgical procedures for ocular surface disease have been added into the corneal surgeon armamentarium. Ocular surface rehabilitation is of paramount importance before attempting definitive surgical procedures to improve the vision. Early clinical diagnosis of severe corneal diseases and surgical intervention is essential to limit ocular morbidity. This course will also apprise the participants of on the use of newer surgical procedures including tissue adhesive application, AMT, autologous LSC transplants and ex-vivo cultured LSC transplants in the management of OSD. Presenters will describe indications, surgical techniques and their experience of using these techniques through clinical cases in various OSDs. Visual rehabilitation of these patients may require DALK, PK and keratoprosthesis. In addition practical tips on prevetion of recurrences following pterygium surgery and cataract surgery in severe dry eye will be delivered.

Keynote Address by Dr. RAJENDRA BANSAL: How to assess Risk factors in Glaucoma?
Objective: While the clinical spectrum of infectious uveitis varies largely from that of non-infectious uveitis, certain clinical signs may be overlapping. In the absence of definitive evidence, this often leads to a significant diagnostic challenge to the treating ophthalmologist. While timely initiation of empirical therapy is beneficial in most of the cases, few of them may have a catastrophic consequence, especially when immunosuppressive (local or systemic) therapy is administered for a presumed non-infective uveitis. The management of uveitis has recently swung from systemic therapy to local intraocular therapy. But case selection is extremely crucial prior to these management strategies. Purpose: This course will highlight the importance of identifying red flags from the presentation, history and clinical examination to differentiate infectious from non-infectious causes of uveitis. Also, certain ocular signs may serve as a window to an unknown underlying systemic disorder.

- Infectious Uveitis: How can one tell if the problem is microbial?

PERFECTION IN PHACO SURGERY

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Harbansh Lal  [L04743] - New Delhi

The Journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step. If you are on the correct path it is very easy to reach your goal. Similarly with Phaco Surgery - if the basics are clear then it is extremely easy to do premium cataract surgery and also handle complicated cases. This video assisted course brings together Masters in the field of Phacoemulsification who would share their tips to initiate the beginner into cataract surgery and help novice surgeons add finesse to their technique. It will highlight the finer nuances of all steps of phaco - the technique its rationale, what to avoid and how to prevent complications. Interactive discussion with the faculty will allow the attendees to discuss their problems and overcome their stumbling blocks. At the end of the course the participants will be well equipped to undertake their Phaco journey with confidence.

Objective: Cataract surgery rate (CSR) in India is increased to 5400/million/year and there is more incidence of pseudophakic corneal edema/bullous keratopathy. We also see large number of Fuchs' dystrophy cases, because of better diagnostic tools. So, we have to do lots of endothelial keratoplasty. This video-assisted instruction course will highlight various steps of DSEK in-depth. It includes – both manual and automated donor dissection in artificial anterior chamber; Descemet scoring and stripping; donor insertion techniques; closure, etc. It will also deal with case selections; indications, contraindications, complications with their management; endothelial cell loss, and long term graft survival. Learning curve; precut tissue option and cost analysis of DSEK compared to its automated version (DSAEK) will be covered at the end. Purpose: At the end of the course, the attendee will learn DSEK procedure step-by-step in a simplified manner which is relevant to Indian subcontinent.

INTRAVITREAL INJECTIONS IN MEDICAL RETINA PRACTICE - ALL WHAT YOU WANTED TO KNOW, BUT COULDN'T ASK...
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. GOPAL S PILLAI [P09299] - Kochi,

This instruction course will be a one stop knowledge store for the management of almost all the medical retina conditions treated with intravitreal injections. Intravitreal injections have now become one of the most common therapeutic procedures done by an ophthalmologist. With expanding indications and retreatments, every comprehensive ophthalmologist is compelled to start doing intravitreal injections. It is up to us to make these comprehensive ophthalmologists fully aware of the correct indications, contraindications, follow up, retreatment criteria and to make them fully competent in giving injections. A video on the correct technique of injection, indications and contraindications, strategies of re-treatment and prediction of prognosis in AMD, DME and RVO and complications of anti VEGF will be included. It will also compare the different injections presently available for use. This IC will be useful to practicing comprehensive ophthalmologists as well as budding young residents.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.SUSHMA TEJWANI [T07254] - Bangalore

Even after the advent of modern tools to pick up early glaucoma, the visual fields remain the gold standard for diagnosis of glaucoma. Similarly neurosurgeons and neurologists also depend significantly on the visual field of a patient for localizing the lesion. In both the scenarios careful clinical examination and proper interpretation of the perimetry is the answer in majority of the situations to clinch the diagnosis. The course objective is to familiarize the audience to the automated perimetry programs so that the complex looking symbols and numbers are no longer intimidating. This course would simplify the understanding about how the data is generated & presented by an automated perimeter in these print outs. With the aid of ample glaucoma and neurological clinical examples, the course will enable the audience in decision making for reaching the diagnosis in glaucoma and neuro-ophthalmology.

CHANGING STRATEGIES IN DIABETIC VITREOUS SURGERY
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. BORAL SUBHENDU KUMAR [B09751] - Kolkata

We are living in the capital of diabetes. As fast screening programmes increases the number of diabetic retinopathy cases, the domain for intervention in diabetics has increased. Advancement in OCT, especially its’ 3D mode guided anatomical changes modify today’s strategies in diabetic retinopathy. Today we are little bit more aggressive. We have to tackle advanced proliferative scenarios as well as vitreo macular interface disorders even in early stages. Advancement in machineries, fluidics, cutter technology, illumination & other instrumentation increases the safety profile in the management process. The course will include surgical video presentations and interactive session to share the experience between speakers and audience in managing diabetic cases. At end, attendee will be able to improve surgical planning in both early and advanced cases, approaches for intraoperative complications and can update themselves to manage better in future.

Multifocal Toric IOL implantation is gradually gaining the place as a suitable option to achieve emetropia and full range vision following cataract surgery in cases of significant corneal astigmatism where higher astigmatism has been restricting Multifocal IOL implantation. However the concept of combining Toric IOLs with Multifocal platform remains controversial in terms of ultimate functional outcome. The proposed course is aimed to touch upon vital issues linked with Multifocal Toric IOL implantation and highlighted above. The minute tips to ensure surgical precision including preoperative evaluation will be discussed in length. The role of Multifocal Toric IOLs in advanced and concurrent procedure will also be highlighted. Keynote Address by Dr. JAGMOHAN CHAWLA: ‘Multifocal Intraocular lens Implants’
Though, JOAG is uncommon in general ophthalmic practice, it is not so in India. A study from a tertiary referral hospital in India found a 3.3% prevalence rate of JOAG amongst all glaucoma admissions, which is 5 times greater when compared to Caucasians. An understanding of this subgroup of glaucoma patients is important because it affects a socially productive younger population and thus has a greater visual morbidity. The course highlights the salient features of JOAG eyes with regards to genotype, variable phenotype in terms of angle dysgenesis, intraocular pressure rise, disc morphometry and the management options including medical and surgical therapy and the complications associated with mitomycin C use in these eyes. Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to understand the pathophysiology of Juvenile open angle glaucoma, clinical presentation, genetic mutations associated with JOAG, clinical correlation of these mutations, management options in these patients and the long term course of the disease.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. TANUJA KATE [T09033] - Indore

Secondary glaucoma constitutes a big chunk of glaucoma patients in our country and this is due to higher incidence of infection, inflammation, retinal vascular disorders, complicated cataract surgery and trauma. This instruction course aims at highlighting concept of secondary open angle and angle closure mechanisms responsible for glaucoma in commoner clinical conditions. Highly experienced faculty will also discuss the common errors during evaluation of a case of secondary glaucoma. It would be a video and case based course wherein diagnostic pearls and management tips of commonly encountered secondary glaucomas such as pseudoexfoliation, pigmentary, steroid induced, lens induced, uveitic, post keratoplasty etc. would be discussed. Also we would address difficult to treat glaucomas such as neovascular and malignant glaucoma. The course ultimately aims to give the audience a comprehensive strategy regarding early and timely recognition of these glaucomas so as to proceed to appropriate management.

Neovascular and silicone oil induced glaucoma
Steroid induced glaucoma
Lens induced glaucoma
Malignant glaucoma
Angle Recession Glaucoma
Pigmentary and pseudoexfoliation glaucoma
Post keratoplasty and Drug induced glaucoma

OPEN SESAME – DEALING WITH THE SMALL PUPIL

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SUVEN BHATTACHARJEE [B05679] - Kolkata

This video based course will provide comprehensive instructions on strategies, devices and techniques to tackle pre operative and intraoperative small pupil in phacoemulsification. Topics will include: Assessment of small pupil & co-morbidities, Fluidics, Viscomydriasis, Iris Hooks, Pupil expansion rings (Malyugin) and new pupil expansion rings (Bhattacharjee) for Bi axial MICS, 0.9 mm incisions and shallow chambers. Stepwise instructions for each of these devices will be provided. Anticipation, recognition and management of IFIS will be specially emphasized. At the conclusion of this course, the attendee will be able to distinguish the elastic small pupil of IFIS from the non elastic small pupil due to other causes and also develop a clear strategy to deal with a non dilating or constricting pupil with or without a floppy and prolapsing Iris, with judicious use of fluidics, viscoelastics and devices like Iris hooks and rings.

Electrophysiological examination of the visual system provides objective information in relation to the function of the visual pathways, often significantly helping in the diagnosis and management of the patient. The main tests include EOG, ERG and VEP, pattern ERG and mERG. The ISCEV has established standards and guidelines most of these. The course aims at providing a basic understanding of the principles and interpretation of these tests with an emphasis on discussion of cases. Four talks each 15-20 minutes duration will be followed by a series of case discussions for the next 20 minutes.

Diagnostic and Therapeutic Dilemmas in Small Angle Strabismus
Chief Instructor: Dr. Jitendra Nenumal Jethani [J09433] - Vadodara

Strabismus less than 10 prism diopters is considered to be small angle strabismus. When 2 images are close together the abnormal visual experience is much more bothersome. Cover test, Simultaneous prism cover test, 10 prism base down test help in the diagnosis of small squints. It is shown that almost all possible combinations of bifoveal fixation, fixation disparity, ARC and suppression may occur. It can be managed non surgically by prisms, occlusion, monovision glasses. Training for fusion has been tried with telestereoscopes and synaptophores. Pharmacologically, botulinum toxin and bupivacaine have also been found to be useful. Conventional procedures are thwart with overcorrection. Alternative procedures described are single muscle recessions, single muscle resections, mini tenotomy- marginal and central, mini plication- complete or central. Adequate thought towards selection of procedure can make managing this intriguing entity fruitful.

GLAUCOMA SUSPECT – APPROACH TO CLINICAL DIAGNOSIS, WORK UP AND MANAGEMENT
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. DEVEN TULI [T07245] - New Delhi

Glaucoma suspects make up nearly half the glaucoma cases seen by comprehensive eye doctors. A number of questions arise, such as is the patient having glaucoma and what are the mandatory history taking and clinical examination features to look for. Disc assessment and Gonioscopy, though must, are often missed out or not correctly understood by general ophthalmologists. Using illustrative photos and videos, these will be covered in this course. The indications and interpretation of tests like Fields and OCT imaging will be discussed with pictures, print outs and case based situations. Through panel discussion amongst experts, guidelines for starting treatment and overall effective management of glaucoma suspects will be highlighted. The course will facilitate correct and uniform practise of managing glaucoma suspects by glaucoma practitioners, general ophthalmologists and residents. Ample time will be ensured for audience interaction and queries.

- OCT in glaucoma suspect – When to order and interpreting printout

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. PRATEEP VYAS [V3799] - Indore

Glaucoma is a leading cause of irreversible blindness, more than 15 million are affected, likely to increase this number significantly. Both types of primary Glaucomas (ACG and POAG) are seen in large number. Challenge is to diagnose condition appropriately at early stage even by comprehensive Ophthalmologist. Measurement of IOP, Gonioscopy, ONH and RNFL examination are critical, investigations like Perimetry, CCT, Imaging helps in diagnosis and picking up progression of condition. Course is design to help every Ophthalmologist to know correct approach for diagnosing Glaucoma by judicious use of clinical skill and technology support. Every single efforts will be taken by experts to ensure each aspects of diagnosis of POAG and PACG are addressed comprehensively so as participants can enhance their ability to diagnose condition effectively. Enough time will be provided for audience interaction.

In the present era, there are lots of new technologies available for imaging the posterior segment. However, their clinical utility and applicability in busy practice remains questionable. This course aims to update the sophisticated comprehensive ophthalmologists as well as the retina specialists about the currently available newer imaging modalities that are being increasingly used to diagnose and manage posterior segment diseases. In this course, we shall review the fundamentals and advancements in newer imaging modalities in the background of existing technologies so that the participants are able to understand the newer technologies and their application in clinical practice. At the conclusion of this course, the attendees will be better able to assess and interpret the newer imaging modalities that seem unfamiliar and intimidating otherwise. The course shall have 5 talks followed by panel discussion of 35 minutes.

FILM FESTIVAL OF STRABISMUS SURGERIES: CUTTING WITH PRECISION [VIDEO ASSISTED SQUINT TRAINING-VAST]
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SHAH KALPIT PRAVINBHAI [S08323] - Ahmedabad

The earliest successful strabismus surgery intervention is known to have been performed on 26 October 1839 by Johann Friedrich on a 7-year-old esotropic child. Since then, they have been undergone constant revision & refinement. Knowledge and appreciation of both the dynamic muscle forces and the physiology & pathology for strabismus has made a change. The anatomical correction aims at obtaining parallelism and a symmetrical appearance of the eyes in all directions of gaze for restoration of binocular single vision and cosmesis. The purpose of this course is essentially to recollect certain factors which are variable and individualistic - which materially affect the results of surgery. The surgeon must assess these factors before deciding surgical procedure and dosage of surgeries. Rationales for the techniques and results of various surgeries for different types of strabismus would be discussed with more of interactive discussions with a view to secure the best possible results.

MAKING THE TRABECULECTOMY WORK... EASIER SAID THAN DONE! AN HONEST APPRAISAL FOR A GOOD TRABECULECTOMY
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SUSHMITA KAUSHIK [K06401] - Chandigarh

Trabeculectomy is the most common glaucoma surgery performed, and is still the Gold standard against which all other procedures have to match up to. Though it is not a technically demanding surgery, the pre-operative assessment and post-operative management are paramount for the procedure to successfully control the IOP. In this IC, we will look at the entire process involved during a trabeculectomy. We will start with an overview of the surgical anatomy and wound healing process, and then the attendees will be taken through the entire gamut of pre-operative planning, nuances of doing the surgery and then nurturing the bleb to ensure its survival. They will also see video demonstrations of all techniques including needling and bleb revision in cases of impending failure. At the end of the course, the delegates will hopefully acquire new insights to optimize their surgery and will gain tips for optimum management of a bleb to enhance its chances of success.

"Avastin doesn’t blind people; people blind people," roared Phil Rosenfeld through an editorial in AJO in response to the reports of cluster endophthalmitis following intravitreal Avastin in Florida. Indeed, with the tremendous surge in use of this wonderful drug has come the widespread abuse for all and sundry indications. There are even some large case series and trials on controversial indications, making a judicious choice very equivocal for the genuine practicing ophthalmologist to separate fact from fiction. To address this issue, we have brought together a panel of experts to discuss the controversies and evolve some guidelines on this slippery issue.

a) What is Avastin & how it works
b) How long it stays, and implications for use
c) The gold standard of compounding & what institutes follow
d) The next-best solution for low-volume practitioner
e) Combination therapies with Avastin
f) Use in controversial indications & abuse
g) Take home message

Surgical Treatment Advanced
07.02.2015 E1 11:30 - 12:55

Modern drainage devices can effectively control the intraocular pressure with minimum postoperative complications. They have the potential to regulate flow with enhanced IOP control in neovascular glaucoma, ICE syndrome, glaucoma following penetrating keratoplasty and retinal detachment where it is becoming the primary treatment of choice. This course highlights the various options available in India, their indications, surgical techniques, designs, overall success rates and their associated complications. With the help of published articles and surgical videos, management of complications will be discussed in detail. The use of anti-metabolites with drainage devices and various strategies used to minimize postoperative complications will be discussed in detail. At the end, attendees will be familiar with the various kinds of aqueous drainage devices available, how to use them and maximize surgical outcome with minimal complications.

Aqueous drainage devices: AGV
Aqueous drainage devices: AADI
Aqueous drainage devices: Others
End plate size and IOP
End plate biomaterial and biocompatibility
Aqueous drainage devices: Design and postoperative complications
Corneal decapsulation and pars plana placement of ADD
Hypertensive phase with bleb encapsulation and its management
Bleb fibrosis
Role of MMC and 5FU

Uveitis is often a diagnostic and therapeutic challenge. There has been significant advance in the investigation procedures and management of uveitis. Newer uveitic entities have emerged and management concepts have been modified. In this instruction course a set of national experts will present challenging cases of uveitis, with differential diagnoses, investigations and management and with a take home message on each case. It will update the audience with the current approach in diagnosis and management of uveitis. There will be question and answer session in between cases and at the end to clarify all queries of the audience and opinion of other instructors regarding each case.

Oops, the capsules ripped, the iol fell in! iol power calculation went wrong! this patient is aphakic in one eye, the iol is on the ciliary body. We can safely implant and explant secondary lenses through a small incision using new iol cutters to explant and glue, through the bag sutures and modified phakic lenses to implant the right lens. New forceps and scissor cutters safely slice the lens into 2 or 3 parts. The adventurous can even fold the lens in the eye for removal. Inserting a secondary iol is simplified with fibrin glues, transcapsular sutures and newer fastening techniques like the hammock and other lens suspension systems like the assia anchor. Also we can see the new spiral iol where the haptics are in the anterior chamber and the optic is in the posterior chamber. All these techniques only in video

HIV patient can present to any comprehensive ophthalmologist or specialist. Even ophthalmologist can be the first one to suspect and clinch diagnosis of HIV. We will demonstrate clinical situations where ocular clues lead to suspicion and confirmation of HIV despite patient’s denial of any such history or disease. The course will re-emphasize the need for universal precautions in our clinical practice so that no harm is done even if patient does not declare HIV status/high risk behavior. We will be sharing common anterior and posterior segment disorders and their management. This course will culminate with the talk on surgery in HIV patients. This talk will explain about OT etiquettes, sterilization of non-consumables and disposal of consumables apart from the surgical techniques, while performing minor or major surgeries in these patients. The course will be followed by audience participation and panel discussion to answer the audience queries.

Research has always been intriguing for most of us and we have most often viewed it as a bitter pill to swallow. But it is the very foundation of our clinical practice. This course will help us understand how basic research can help improve our clinical work and enhance patient care. We will delve into ongoing work and explore the potential of cutting-edge research in day to day practice in each of the specialities. Let us also simplify and design a practical approach to use research to our advantage.

HOW TO CONQUER CONJUNCTIVAL TUMORS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SANTOSH G HONAVAR [H04901] - Hyderabad

Synopsis Conjunctival tumors have a varied spectrum of clinical presentation. These are often misdiagnosed as simulating conditions, resulting in inappropriate treatment and tumor recurrence. The aim of this course is to provide a systematic overview of the clinical manifestations of conjunctival tumors and to discuss recent concepts in the diagnosis, management, and prognosis. Clinical evaluation, and atypical and atypical manifestations conjunctival tumors will be demonstrated with well-documented clinical cases. Systemic associations will be discussed. Advantages of anterior segment imaging techniques will be highlighted. Evidence-based treatment protocols, and indications and outcome of newer treatment modalities such as topical chemotherapy, and plaque brachytherapy will be discussed. Standard surgical procedures will be demonstrated with video films. Objective This course is designed to enable participants to accurately diagnose and appropriately manage common conjunctival tumors.

LASERS IN GLAUCOMA
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. HARSH KUMAR [H02900] - New Delhi

This course provides basic introduction to lasers and the various machines available in the Indian set up. It then helps to provide guidance on techniques, procedures and pearls in the management of various glaucoma situations. We would cover the common techniques of Nd YAG iridotomy, Argon laser Trabecuoplasty, Selective Laser Trabecuoplasty, Gonioplasty, laser to tackle bleb related problems, malignant glaucoma, iridolenticular synichiolysis to overcome iridotomy failure in inflammatory Glaucoma, suturolysis in trabeculectomy cases. We would also deal with partially destructive procedures like Diode laser cyclophotocoagulation and endo cyclophotocoagulation. The teachers in this course are all masters of the techniques which they will discuss, with decades of experience behind them, in detail so that the students will be able to grasp not only the method but also the challenges faced and how to deal with usual complications.

Keynote Address by Dr. RAJENDRA BANSAL: New Trends and Challenges in Medical Management of Glaucoma.
There are some definite situations in cataract surgery, like rock hard or subluxated cataract, that can be termed as challenging. Besides these, there exists some situations that need special care. Ophthalmologists should have prior knowledge of these conditions and should be well prepared to tackle these situations. While taking a high myope one should know about LIDRS and know how to tackle it. Sick endothelium demands pre op counseling, use of dispersive OVD, BSS+ & in the bag phaco. Microphthamic eyes have large, hard nucleus besides being small eyes. Eyes with low roof are high hypermetropes, narrow or closed angle or Relative Anterior Microphthalmous. These eyes need special care. A traumatic cataract with irididialysis is always special. The days of PK+ECCE+IOL in a Cataract with dense corneal opacities are long gone. Modern surgeons deal these cases more effectively with phaco & lameller keratoplasty. The course will teach to take up these situations efficiently.

INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGIES AND TECHNIQUES TO CONQUER BRUNESCENT CATARACTS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. ARUP BHAUMIK [B08359] - 24 Parganas (North)

Brunescent cataracts have always been a challenge to all cataract surgeons. Various techniques have evolved over the years which have made dealing these hard cataracts much easier, safer and predictable. This IC will concentrate Video based demonstration of a variety of new and innovative technologies and techniques. The choice of phaco tips, variation of fluidics, chopping methods and techniques will be vividly shown. These will eventually reduce the wound as well the energy related complications. Purpose: To impart valuable knowledge regarding innovative technologies and techniques that will improve cataract surgery skills required to negotiate brunescent cataracts with safe and predictable outcomes.

IT ENABLED PRACTICE MANAGEMENT AND ELECTRONIC MEDICAL RECORDS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RAJESWARI NARAYANASWAMY [N10506] - Chennai

Managing a practice is becoming increasingly sophisticated as people and technologies advance. Expectations from patients and the public in general is growing and hospitals / clinics are trying to keep pace with the change. Storage of medical records is becoming expensive, cumbersome and prone for damages. There are more and more statutory compliances, which the hospitals have to adhere. Increasing insurance coverage of the population means more insurance patients and more administrative overheads. An effective and efficient practice management is needed to manage the functions of the hospital. In this instruction course, we are going to address in detail the role of IT in Practice Management and a step-by-step approach in implementing a software solution in a hospital. In addition, we are also going to cover the technology aspects like cyber security, infrastructure and technology trends.

Tumors of the eye and ocular adnexa can have varied presentation and often masquerade as other non neoplastic, infective or inflammatory ocular pathologies which can delay the diagnosis and management. In this course a team of practicing ocular oncologists will combine case scenarios, images, videos and short lectures to enumerate the varied clinical presentations, diagnostic features and current management outline of common ocular tumors which are important for a comprehensive ophthalmologist. Audience participation will be encouraged by having case presentations of representative tumors. At the end of the course the attendees will be able to recognize common ocular tumors and understand when to suspect neoplastic ocular etiology when patient presents at a general ophthalmology practice.

FEMTOSECOND LASERS IN CORNEAL SURGERY
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RAJESH FOGLA [F06278] - Hyderabad

Femtosecond lasers allow cuts to be made in the cornea in a predictable & precise manner. Although most commonly used for making corneal flaps in laser refractive surgery, femtosecond lasers can be used for a variety of corneal surgeries including superficial anterior lamellar keratoplasty, deep anterior lamellar keratoplasty, penetrating keratoplasty and endothelial keratoplasty. Besides these, femtosecond lasers can be used for managing post keratoplasty astigmatism using relaxing incisions or laser refractive surgery. This course will cover all these topics using clinical cases, surgical videos, and evidence based literature to update the corneal surgeon regarding use of femtosecond lasers in corneal surgery.

Penetrating Keratoplasty is still forms more than 60 percent of all corneal transplants in India. This video based course is targeted for beginners and also as refresher for corneal surgeons who wish to refine their technique of performing penetrating keratoplasty. We will introduce and discuss the basic and practical aspects of performing an optical penetrating keratoplasty, pre-operative planning and various surgical techniques with focus on improving and post-operative management of routine penetrating keratoplasty. Suturing Techniques, Adjuvant procedures like Cataract Extraction, Iris reconstruction, Pupiloplasty, Sceral Fixation IOL, Paediatric Keratoplasty. Surgical modifications in Therapeutic Keratoplasty for various infective pathologies will be covered. Complications of Penetrating Keratoplasty and their prevention and management shall also be discussed in detail.

MASTER SICS TO LEARN PHACOEMULSIFICATION WITH EASE!
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RUCHI GOEL [G07558] - New Delhi

In this era of precision surgery and demanding patients, there is little scope for committing errors. Phacoemulsification, though favored by most does not enjoy the universal applicability as small incision cataract surgery (SICS) in situations like black cataracts, fibrosed capsules, hazy corneas and poor working conditions. Erratic power supply and microscopes with lack of foot control, poor optics, lesser working distances are still common in our country. Besides this, SICS provides a viable fall back in situations like machine failure, escaped capsulorhexis, intraoperative corneal edema and posterior capsular tears. In this video assisted course, demonstration of the basic steps of SICS along with the techniques of nuclear delivery shall be followed by tips for transiting from SICS to phaco and vice versa.

SYSTEMIC COMPLICATIONS IN OPHTHALMIC PROCEDURES: TIPS TO HANDLE
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. RENU SINHA [S12560] - New Delhi

Most of the ophthalmic surgeries are done under peribulbar block and block related life threatening complications like convulsion and arrhythmias are not uncommon. Some precautions and preparation may help in reducing the incidence of these complications and if happen a protocol based management even by ophthalmologist can be initiated till an anaesthetist or physician is available for management. Many a times, patient is allergic to lignocaine and as a large number of patients coming for ophthalmic procedures are elderly and may have cardiac disesees, it is much safe to operate them under regional anaesthesia. There are other drugs available which can be used in these patients. Angiography is usually performed in labs and these labs are far away from operation theatre. These patients are usually diabetic and having cardiac disease. In the event of allergy or collapse, there are chances of severe cardiovascular event. Therefore all emergency drugs should be available and basic management

Cornea is most susceptible to injury, and any insult in the form of trauma, may lead to significant visual loss. We all see patients presenting with immediate or delayed effects of trauma, who lose functional vision. With recent concepts helping our understanding of the etio-pathogenesis and management strategy of corneal trauma, be it mechanical, chemical or radiation induced, the prognosis and results to salvage a traumatized eye has significantly improved. Experts with vast experience shall cover various aspects like iatrogenic corneal injury, management of corneal-scleral lacerations, classification and management of chemical injury, role of amniotic membrane and limbal stem cell transplant in ocular surface reconstruction following trauma. Management of corneal trauma associated with posterior segment involvement, with one sitting Pole to Pole surgery shall also be demonstrated by videos by stalwarts in this field.

CHALLENGING CASES IN STRABISMUS: TIPS TO DIAGNOSIS AND SURGICAL MANAGEMENT

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. PRAMOD KUMAR PANDEY [P04428] - New Delhi

Strabismus and motility disorders often engender challenging/perplexing clinical presentations raising diagnostic and surgical dilemmas/equivocations, begging for a comprehensive inclusive approach to clinical evaluation and surgical management. Eclectic cases encompassing diverse motility presentations both congenital and acquired will be analyzed and discussed threadbare with stress on how to arrive at the appropriate diagnosis and on nuances of surgical management. Motility presentations with neuro-ophthalmic baggage will also be covered including those which may be markers of serious neurological disease meriting neuro-imaging. Challenging cases including DRS, CFEOM, Oblique muscle palsies and DVD will be discussed. Presentations will be interactive and followed by discussion. At the end of the session, attendee will be well versed with a road map as to how to proceed in such abstruse presentations and when, how and what to treat including surgical avenues and expected outcomes.

DIOPTRIC DISTRESS: HOW TO CALCULATE IOL POWER UNDER ALL CIRCUMSTANCES.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. ASHIMA AGGARWAL [A07670] - New Delhi

As cataract surgeons, we have all faced refractive surprises following IOL implantation. The problems are accentuated when dealing with an eye that has undergone refractive surgery. This course is a step-by-step guide to IOL power calculation. Beginning with the basics of biometry and optimization of surgeons' constants, the course will then take on calculations in post-refractive surgery eyes. It will close with a detailed discussion on Dynamic IOL optimization, the latest strategy for lens power prediction. As will be shown, the IOL power formulae yield different results even after optimization of personal constants. Dynamic IOL power optimization (DIO) improves the situation by personalized retrospective analysis of various lens power formulae. This information is then used prospectively to generate a single lens power estimate. The power of the strategy is enhanced by using niche cohorts. The course will include an interactive, hands on demonstration of the relevant software.

Keratoconus is rapidly growing corneal disease with unknown causes and multiple yet not proven factors. The increased awareness and smart diagnostic modalities made this disease easily identifiable. Catching the findings of keratoconus early is the key to successful management of these patients. This course intends to give the attendees a overview of aetiological factors of primary and post lasik ectasias, the current technology for the early diagnosis and recognition of the subtle changes that are diagnostic. There has been tremendous development in the management of both pre and post laser correction ectasias and Contact lens fitting, Corneal crosslinking with Riboflavin, Toric ICL and IOL, Intacs and current keratoplasty techniques will be discussed for the benefit of the attendees with emphasis on the indications, technique, post operative care and avoidance of complications. During this course we shall discuss case scenario of varying severities of keratoconus and their management.

THE WHEN, WHICH AND HOW OF KERATOPROSTHESIS; WHY MOVE BEYOND KERATOPLASTY
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. QURESH B MASKATI [M01959] - Mumbai

This course will introduce the practising corneal surgeon to the world of Keratoprosthesis. It will provide a bird's eye view of the 3 different Keratoprosthesis... the Pintucci, the MOOKP and the Boston K pro being commonly done in the country today; explain in details the cases where it is advisable not to do keratoplasty but to opt for a k pro (answering the question of "when"); spell out the indications for each one (answering the question of "which"); and with the help of videos give a glimpse of how these surgeries are done. At the end of the course, we expect at least some of the attendee to be sufficiently motivated to take up this challenging surgery to help the bilaterally corneally blind in whom Keratoplasty is not an option, to see!

Keynote Address by Dr CLAES FEINBAUM on: TORIC IOLs: Trouble Shooting and Problem Solving
Objective: Epiphora due to excessive inflow or obstructed outflow is often encountered by an ophthalmologist. From the traditional external dacryocystorhinostomy (DCR) to the scarless transconjunctival external DCR, from accepting that endonasal DCR has poorer outcome to understanding the ostium and improving outcome, from invasive conjunctival DCR to canalicular trephine, from counseling patients that there is “no respite from epiphora” to offering neurotoxin/Jones tube as an alternative, ophthalmologists today across the world with the help of technology, technique or pure improvisation are constantly challenging the frontiers. The goal of all remains the same – an eternally patent ostium in a forever happy patient.

Purpose: This course will offer a step-by-step guide of the changing paradigms in lacrimal surgery. Each instructor shall describe the traditional and the new and highlight what makes the new procedures promising. Active interaction will be encouraged through the course.

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. ROHIT SAXENA [S06615] - New Delhi

Practicing strabismology requires a thorough understanding of the field and its concepts. While general guidelines exist for the management of most squints, these protocols need to be individualised for optimum results. This particularly holds true for incomitant squints and paediatric cases. This course covers the whole gamut of strabismus cases and provides a comprehensive concept building regarding management strategies both non-surgical and surgical as well as comitant and incomitant squints. The course further builds on these concepts and will discuss the individualised approach to pattern strabismus, paralytic strabismus (including third, fourth and sixth nerve palsy), restrictive strabismus (including Duane retraction syndrome, strabismus fixus and browns syndrome) and unusual situations such as traumatic recti avulsion and post retinal detachment surgery eyes. The course will include plenty of interaction with the audience and a quiz to fortify the practical use of concepts learnt.

GOSH, WHAT DO I DO? THIS CATARACT IS VERY VERY TOUGH!!
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. SWARUP PRADEEP [S03261] - Hyderabad

All the cataract surgeons come across cases which have given them sleepless nights the day prior to the surgery once in a while. This course is an attempt at discussing those particular cases and how the surgeon dealt with the case along with a fruitful discussion on alternate ways of managing these difficult situations and a very brief literature review. Miotic pupils, corneal opacities, hard cataracts in colobomatous eyes, dense nuclear sclerosis with posterior polar cataracts, very high myopia and subluxated cataracts are some of the very common “difficult situations”. This is a video based instruction course where the each surgeon will present the preoperative concerns and what measures were taken to tackle the particular case and share the unforeseen complications/surprises for which they were not prepared at times. This discussion would embolden the other cataract surgeons to face these tough situations more scientifically as the course would also briefly review relevant literature.

As the baby boomer generation is ageing, there is increase in demand for Presbyopia correction. Refractive surgeons rapidly adapting various methods proposed for Presbyopia reversal (ESCRS 2011 survey). Continuous research and innovation is translated into novel techniques to treat presbyopia. Presbyopic surgical correction is considered to be holygrail of refractive surgery. Currently, there are wide variety of corneal, scleral and intra-ocular surgical options for presbyopia correction. This course will discuss in details all the necessary information, including patient selection, surgical approaches and their details and post-operative management. The course will include understanding presbyopia, relevant corneal (conductive keratoplasty, monovision ablation, multifocal ablation, laser blended vision), lenticular (monovision, multifocal IOL and Accommodating IOL) and scleral approaches in a interactive video based course format.

Refractive errors contribute a majority of patients in any ophthalmic OPD. Proper refraction & correct spectacle prescription are the bread and butter of general ophthalmologists. Many times patients are not satisfied with the spectacles prescribed and the cause turns out to be faulty dispensing and improper fitting. This IC is planned to give practical tips to demonstrate the pitfalls in perfect refraction, correct prescription, fitting and dispensing of spectacles, setting up an optical unit, inventory and ethical aspect, various selection criteria for the professional selection of spectacle frames & lenses from the wide range available in the competitive market for the occupation and paying capacity. The course gives guidelines for enriching your refraction practice, paediatric refraction, spectacle intolerance, professional comfort and customer satisfaction with emphasis on computer vision syndrome, how to manage it for a successful practice and optical dispensing and marketing.

MASTERING THE TECHNIQUES OF IOL POWER CALCULATIONS
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.TWINKLEKUMAR DHIMANTKUMAR SHAH [S11680] - Ahmedabad

An era of cataract-refractive surgery, with target emmetropia, with use of premium IOLs; a surgeon stress increase to the maximum output. This IC focused on the perfection of the IOL power calculations in various cataract surgery situations. Course will include the perfect keratometry, immersion & optical biometry along with an idea of emergence & importance of various formulas selection. Participants will be enriched by the knowledge for various tricky situations like - a very long or short eyes, silicone oil filled eyes, triple procedures, post refractive surgery eyes, paediatric patients, secondary implants.

Accurate keratometry & Biometry( Optical & Immersion ) for IOL power calculation.
Enlightening the recent IOL power calculation formulas & personalised A constant.

MANAGING POSTERIOR SEGMENT OCULAR TRAUMA- THORNY JOB
CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr.SATYEN DEKA [D07136] - Guwahati

Managing posterior segment trauma is always challenging and the prognosis may be unpredictable. Even with improvement in surgical techniques and instrumentation overall outcome of posterior segment trauma is not encouraging in many situations. This video assisted, unique case supported, highly informative instruction course will give practical tips in management of posterior segment ocular trauma. The course divided in six sections covers clinical assessment, application of investigations, blunt and penetrating trauma management along with special attention to retinal detachment, endophthalmitis, and intraocular foreign body. Each topic is discussed though clinical situations and proper scientific management documentations to make it simple and convincing to the target delegates. At the conclusion of this course, the attendee will be able to manage more confidently this difficult job.

Clinical assessment and prognostication in posterior segment trauma
Traumatic endophthalmitis management
Techniques and surgical goals in posterior segment IOFB management
Posterior segment effects of blunt trauma and its management

CHIEF INSTRUCTOR: Dr. MIHIR TRILOK KOTHARI [K08617] - Mumbai

The course would begin with a keynote address by Dr Richard Hertle. He will present the scientific pearls from three decades of his research in nystagmus. The didactic lectures would include a SUPER SIMPLIFIED approach for the clinical management of patients with nystagmus. In the panel discussion, 4 different cases will be presented to include common clinical challenges in the management of nystagmus confronted by clinicians with comprehensive and/or sub-specialty ophthalmology practice. This will be followed by audience interaction and distribution of printed course material to the delegates. The course promises to bring about a paradigm change in the clinical practice management of nystagmus.

Session Summary:
The US National Institutes of Health in collaboration with Japan’s National Institute of Sensory Organs has launched a new initiative, Asian Eye Genetics Consortium (AEGC), to create a platform for sharing information on the genetic eye diseases prevalent in the Asian population. The AEGC was recently launched in South Asia at the SAO-SAARC nation’s summit in Colombo. The AIOS session will focus on the overall goals, biology of genetic eye disorders in India, and how AEGC will be carried out in India. The session will also focus on the prevalence of inherited genetic eye disorders in the Indian population and describe various aspects of genetic testing and counselling.

Update
Complications of Vitreoretinal Surgery and Their Management

Dr. Shroff Cyrus Minoo

Vitreoretinal Surgery has advanced to routinely produce good results with a low rate of serious complications. Nevertheless, when untoward incidents happen, the surgeon must be capable of handling them in the best possible way so that it has the least possible impact on the final outcome. In this course, instructors dwell upon the mishaps that may be encountered in day-to-day retinal surgery. The risk factors, prevention, presentation and management of these complications are discussed. This would be followed by participant interaction with the panel on practical issues faced during their surgeries and solutions to resolve the same. Enhanced understanding of the rationale and techniques employed by experts to avoid complications and prevent adverse fallouts of the same would improve the safety of their procedures. At the end of the course, participants will be able to apply practical knowledge and pearls gained here to handle complications better and improve surgical outcomes.

Rational Drug Therapy in Ophthalmology: Burning Need of the Hour

Dr. Kirti Singh

Purpose: Currently ophthalmic practice is plagued with drug polypharmacy and misuse of antibiotics probably due to lack of awareness regarding endemic microbiological patterns or due to a false of security in using newer or many drugs together (take no chances approach). This is counter-productive as leads to emergence of drug resistant organisms, more drug reactions/interactions, increased cost and wastage of resources. Objective This course is designed to outline the rational drug therapy protocol for some common outpatient scenarios. Keeping in mind conditions germane to Indian subcontinent, treatment guidelines for common ocular surface disorders, corneal ulcer, paediatric pathologies and glaucoma will be dealt with. Antibiotic prophylaxis for cataract surgeries and drug therapy of endophthalmitis will also be covered. This case based learning course will be followed by an interactive session using illustrative cases to drive home the messages of avoiding irrational drug coc

Dr. Noshir Minoo Shroff

The goal of modern cataract surgery is to perform cataract removal in a safe and efficient manner, so as to provide quick post-operative visual rehabilitation. In the recent years there have been major technological advances in phaco instrumentation and machines. The aim of this course is to provide a thorough understanding of the fundamental principles of phacodynamics, and their application during phacoemulsification. This will include discussions on the basics of power and evolution of power modulations, fluidics, surge prevention in low and high end machines, and newer phaco technology including torsional and transversal phaco. The course will also deal with phaco trouble-shooting and the setting of various phaco parameters which are needed to get optimal results. There will be an interactive discussion amongst the panelists and the audience, and at the end of this course, the participants will be clear about the various aspects of phacodynamics.

Management of Retinal Detachment: Seeing Winds of Change?

Dr. Das Arnab

The basic pathophysiology of a retinal detachment has been so well understood and described by the greats of the world of ophthalmology that the basics of reattaching a detachment is bound to be relevant for ever. However vitreoretinal surgery has taken some big strides in the form of wide-angle visualization, much improved cutter technology and vitreoretinal machine advancements in recent times. The new age illumination systems have been the icing on the cake. All of these and the minimally invasive generation that we live in have altered our thought line and planning in retinal detachments. The buzz words for both the patient and the ophthalmologist are less invasive, combination procedures, assured results and quicker recovery. This course will highlight how modern times have sugar coated the basics of retinal reattachment and has probably made life slightly better for the patient and the doctor. VAPORS - Video Assisted Problem Oriented Retina and Vitreous Surgery Course

Dr. Muralidhar Srimat Tirumala

Every surgeon has a different operating set-up, best suiting the requirement and affordability. Surgeons across, thus encounter unique situations in their respective everyday practice. VAPORS, a Video Assisted Problem Oriented Retina & vitreous Surgery course for vitreo-retinal surgical procedures, is intended for vitreo-retinal surgeons. This session will highlight difficulties encountered during the steps of the surgical plan in everyday surgical practice. The session would also address best practices relating to instrumentation, visualization, adjuncts and other methods or situations apart from providing an update on “what is new” in the field of retina and vitreous surgery from technique to technology. The panel would address these difficulties through interactive discussion and suggest ways to deal with these difficulties. Each panelist will give some unique tips to overcome the difficulty. At the conclusion of the session the delegates will be better informed to handle difficult intra-operative conditions.

Diabetes is a huge and growing problem. In 2013 there were estimated to be 382 million people with diabetes worldwide which is predicted to increase to 592 million by 2035. There are currently estimated to be 60 million people with diabetes in India, 6 million of who have sight threatening DR. Diabetic retinopathy is already an important cause of avoidable blindness, and the number at risk will continue to increase. There is abundant evidence that good control of diabetes as well as early detection and management of DR are the key strategies for controlling visual loss and blindness due to DR. There is a growing need for an economical mass screening for DR & efficient model of service delivery.

Custom Cataract Surgery – Way to Optimal Visual Outcome

Dr. Rajiv Choudhary

In the present era, cataract surgery is a refractive surgery where the patient expects a qualitative vision. And in this perspective customization can be done for an individual patient based on ocular pathology, refractive error, lifestyle, and expectation so as to give qualitative surgical outcome and also reduce dependence on glasses. The course would include video-based tips on surgical correction of astigmatism with specific emphasis on latest views about accurate reference marking methods, customization of nucleus management, MICS, laser refractive cataract surgery and PCO prevention and management in high risk group. Also, the criteria to be considered in selecting presbyopia correcting IOLs would be highlighted. In the later part of the course, few situations would be presented and on the same, panelists' and audience opinion would be sought, the ultimate aim of the course being to emphasize pearls in custom cataract surgery.

Dilemmas Demystified: Assessing Progression in Automated Perimetry

Dr. Vijaya L.

Assessing true progression and its differentiation from progression artifacts is of paramount importance in modifying the management for a glaucoma patient. Both clinical judgement and statistical help is required for evaluating the same. This instruction course takes a stepwise approach in the principles and methods involved in assessing progression. In addition the differentiation of true from artifactual progression will be discussed followed by clinical examples. Both Humphrey and Octopus machines and their test strategies will be exhaustively discussed. At the end of the course, the attendee is expected to use clinical judgement to understand the complexities involved and evaluate for progression by varied methods used for same across machines.

Patient Counselling in Retinal Practice

Dr. Vaidya Ashish

Today counselling forms a very important tool in patients' treatments. Often, the decision about which surgeon to choose is based on how well he has counselled the patient. Retina being a branch with generally a very poor prognosis and high costs for treatment, patients' expectations need to be modified, met, and even surpassed. In this course, there would be mock patient counselling sessions in which the common questions which patients ask will be addressed by the panel, and there would be insights into the experts' way of handling the sticky situations. The format would be mock patients who will be represented by the chief instructor and one of the panelists having the common retinal diseases like retinal detachment or AMD or vascular diseases and their common questions would be answered by the panel. In this way, in a unique format, a very important and often overlooked part of practice would be dealt with. This course has been previously done at the local level and was greatly appreciated.

Transition from SICS to Phaco - Basics to Advanced Including Complications and Difficult Situations

Dr. Amit Porwal

Phacoemulsification is the surgery of choice for cataract extraction in the current millennium. Many ophthalmologists want to master this technique but often find it challenging due to reluctance to change for the fear of committing complications. This video-based interactive course will highlight the stages of stepwise transition from SICS to Phaco, basics of phaco procedures, along with recognition & management of complications at various steps, so as to reduce the learning curve. Complications related to incision size, rhexis, incomplete hydro, difficulty in chopping, IOL tear, PCR at various steps, tips for successful vitrectomy will be discussed. Difficult cases like hard cataract, intumescent cataracts, small pupil strategies will be presented. Highly experienced faculty who have mastered both SICS & Phaco will be sharing their experiences. This course will help the attendees to minimize the struggle, complications & build up the morale. DVD of the course will be given to the attendees.

Resistant Neovascular AMD-Management Strategies and Role of Aflibercept

Dr. Narendra G. Venkata

Resistant neovascular AMD has been found to be a potential cause of central blindness and it can be a frustrating disease to treat due to its recalcitrance to multiple number and multiple variety of Intravitreal Anti VEGF agents apart from a very restricted use of subretinal surgery and PDT. Ranibizumab had been found to be the potent therapeutic modality of all agents, but recent studies have led to a novel proposition of using a potentially different mechanism to treat neovascular AMD and in particular, the resistant variety. This is VEGF trap which binds VEGFA and PGF with more affinity than VEGF receptors and is called Aflibercept and the safety and efficacy had been proven by VIEW studies, the largest ever prospective multicenter randomized controlled trial done so far for wet AMD. The 52nd and 96th week end results of Aflibercept scores over Ranibizumab owing to much fewer injections for treatment of neovascular AMD and its efficacy for treating resistant variety and even serous PED's.

Code Red in Vitreo Retinal Surgery

Dr. Chirag Dilip Bhatt

In the ever changing field of vitreo-retinal surgery, the factor which may best distinguish a great skilled surgeon from a good skilled surgeon is the ability to avoid and manage challenging situations. In this video based instruction course we are showing different surgical scenarios being faced during vitreo retinal surgery and their solutions and outcome as well as few tips to avoid such situations. Various videos would include diabetic tractional retinal detachment management, haemorrhage during ILM peeling in macular hole surgery, macular hole surgery with retinal detachment, macular hole with intra operative supra choroidal haemorrhage, sub retinal band management during retinal detachment surgery, sub retinal air migration during retinal detachment surgery, re detachment under oil, massive sub retinal haemorrhage management, dislocated nucleus with retinal detachment, intra ocular worm etc.

Visalis 100 from ZEISS - Release 2.0  NEW

Experience the difference

Equipped with the unique Adaptive Power Control, that controls, measures and stabilizes the tip stroke intraoperatively, resulting in less stress for your patient’s eye.

ZEISS VISALIS 100 – Release 2.0 phacoemulsification system creates the basis for:

- Capturing followability* — Continuous nucleus fragment engagement with the phaco tip
- Adaptive Power Control — Balanced stroke intraoperatively
- Surge Security System — Maintains chamber stability at occlusion break
- New pulse modes — Minimizes energy delivered

It’s superior phacoemulsification efficiency you simply have to experience for yourself

The Ophthalmic premier league (OPL) symposium is akin to the Indian Premier league games but with a difference as the OPL is connected to ophthalmology. The idea here is to have 4 teams with 4 captains. Each team will sport their team jersey. Each team will have totally 4 members with each getting 4 minutes to show his / her most challenging cataract / complication cataract case through videos. Each team will be given a total of 18 minutes. There will be a good discussion on each case for the remaining time. The ARS (Automatic response system) if available will be provided to the audience to vote for their favourite team. The winning team will be awarded the AIOS-OPL trophy.

THE SYNOPSIS:
This Court Martial in Ophthalmology brings on stage a panorama of Scientific Challenges faced by surgeons in Ophthalmology and discusses the intense decision making involved and its outcome.

THE STAGE: An OPHTHALMOLOGY COURT ROOM in session comprising of the Honorable Supreme Judge, Nine Honorable Jury Members, Five Defendants, the Public Prosecutor and the Two Defense Counsel.

Each Defendant/Presenter from different super specialties presents a 5 minute video on a challenging situation in Phaco surgery, a post operative complication that has occurred or an intra-operative difficult situation that has been managed.

The Defendant/Presenter concludes the videos with how he/she dealt with the situation and the follow up results and pleads GUILTY or NOT GUILTY!

The Public Prosecutor will discuss the case, its difficulties; the approach adopted by the presenter and suggests any other probable approach towards management of the given case.

The Defense Council helps the defendant with his judicious comments.

The Audience participates with their critical comments or appreciation.

The learned Jury finally discuss the merits and demerits of the cases presented and give their verdict, GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY!

The Supreme Judge then pronounces the FINAL JUDGEMENT in conclusion.

Legal Aspects in Ophthalmology

Dr Deshpande A. A.
Dr Nirmal Fredrick
Dr Pankaj Varshney
Dr Rajasekar

Ophthalmic practice has undergone a sea change in the last decade since the introduction of Consumer Protection act. Gone are the days when doctors were considered next to GOD. But in the Information Technology era, Compensation costs awarded to patients have become prohibitive. When faced with a malpractice lawsuit, fear of the unknown makes you uneasy about the entire experience. There is no textbook, educational class, or Internet site that will tell you how to proceed with your case. Improper or delayed diagnosis has been reported as the cause of 35% of claims and 63% of patient indemnification cases in ophthalmology practice. The legal basis for professional liability is not well appreciated by many Ophthalmologists and therefore confusion abounds on the definitions of negligence and malpractice. A number of the problems related to medical malpractice stem from the lack of sufficient communication between medical practitioners and their patients and, by extension, the patients’ relatives. Maintenance of high standards in daily practice, with continuous training and clear communication along with the appropriate documentation of any procedure carried out, may improve the professional safety of practising eye specialists in the event of medical litigation. The symposium will focus on appraising the doctors on following regulatory guidelines relevant to medical practice, develop good patient communications and maintain comprehensive medical records.

Open to all registered delegates in the hall during the session. Bring your cell phones (charged with battery). You will be bombarded with 50 multiple choice questions in a very exciting audio visual manner. All aspects of ophthalmology from basic sciences to recent advances and everything in between will be covered. Choose the right answer and use your mobile phone to answer (you will be explained how) in the specified few seconds.

At the end of the allotted time, the “Specially designed Software” identifies the cell phone numbers which scored the maximum points.

Since neither the quiz masters nor the programmers know which number belongs to whom, the entire Quiz is fully and openly transparent to all people in the auditorium.

Registration for the quiz is free but mandatory!

Emergency Neuro-Ophthalmology

Dr. Mahesh Kumar

There are certain emergent situations which the practicing ophthalmologist face in their day to day practice, particularly neuro-ophthalmic situations, where speedy diagnosis and an appropriate referral/treatment may be required to save not only the vision but perhaps the life of the patient. In many of these situations, the ophthalmologist becomes the first physician to see the patient and hence the role of the ophthalmologist here becomes very crucial. The course is divided into the different symptoms and signs the patient may present with, like headache, Acute vision loss, Pupillary abnormalities, optic disc oedema and Double vision. It will be in a case based format with importance given to audience interaction in the form of a quiz and the case will be further built on subsequent to the audience response. It will also target the postgraduates in the generation of a differential diagnosis and eliciting of crucial symptoms and signs.

- Acute vision loss (Dr. Kowsalya Akkayasamy)
- Pupillary abnormalities (Dr. Padmavathy Maharajan)
- Patient presenting with double vision (Dr. Kiruba Evangeline Paul)
- Optic disc oedema (Dr. Mahesh Kumar)
- Headache (Dr. Chaithra Dembala Aroor)

Panel Discussion:

We are having an expanding spectrum of indications of intravitreal injections in Ophthalmology. As more and more injections are given by general ophthalmologists, it becomes imperative to give them the right techniques, pros & cons of intravitreal injections. Post operative endophthalmitis is a disastrous complication of any intraocular surgery. This course targets primarily to reach a general Ophthalmologist to give a timely intravitreal injection of antibiotics which is vital in salvaging the eye of his post-operative endophthalmitis patient. An overview of the other intravitreal injections in use today such as Anti-VEGF’s and steroid implant shall also be provided during the course. Participants will be provided with hands-on experience of giving an intravitreal injections on dummy eyes. Laminated handouts of doses of various intravitreal injections which can be mounted in the operation theatres.

- Should general ophthalmologists give an intravitreal injection? Why and why not? (Dr. Rajeev Jain)
- Intravitreal injections for an infected eye-antibiotics & antifungals (Dr. Avinash Pathengay)
- Intravitreal injections for a non-infected eye- anti-VEGF, steroid implant & triamcinolone acetonide (Dr. Avnindra Gupta)
- Intravitreal injections for a non-infected eye- anti-VEGF, steroid implant & triamcinolone acetonide (Dr. Unnikrishnan Nair R)

No Glow – How To Approach?

Dr. Saravanan V.R.

No Glow by most of ophthalmologist is treated as a disease. No glow can occur in various clinical situations like vitreous hemorrhage, retained lens fragments, intermediate uveitis, endophthalmitis and masquerade syndrome. No glow is actually a manifestation of the underlying disease process and not the disease process itself. So first the pathology should be identified for precise management. This course is designed to understand the cause of NO Glow and its management.

Managing Complications Following Vitreo-Retinal Surgery

Dr. Muna Bhende

With increasing refinement of technology, the scope and outcome of vitreoretinal (VR) surgery has changed tremendously. Unique complications related to the procedures are not confined to the retina alone and require coordination with non-retina specialists as well, as treatment may be unconventional. The purpose of the course is to familiarize VR surgeons as well as non-retinal specialists with these surgery-related complications and their management.

Conquering Capsule Complications: A Video Bouquet...

Objective: To use video cases to systematically review techniques of preventing, recognising, and handling complications with either the capsulorrhexis or posterior capsule

Synopsis: Anterior or Posterior capsular complications are not only the most common but also the most important complications in modern day cataract surgery. Modern day Cataract Surgeon is expected to be skilled enough to encounter these situations successfully. In this course, videos of different case scenarios will illustrate a spectrum of techniques for managing anterior and posterior capsular complications: Prevention of CCC runoff and extension in high risk cases like intumuscent cataracts and management of such cases in the event of Rhexis runoff, early recognition of Posterior capsular tear, Prevention of nucleus drop, Anterior vitrectomy techniques, conversion from phaco to non-phaco technique in crisis situations, IOL fixation in the bag, sulcus and IOL fixation in the absence of any capsular support.

Successful Management of CDC with NLDO at all age groups

Dr. Sujatha Y

All the age groups and both genders are uniformly susceptible for Naso Lacrimal Duct Obstructions and the successful management of NLDO varies with different age groups. The etiology, clinical presentation, complications of Congenital NLDO along with guidelines for conservative management from 0-6 months age and indications for Probing highlighting the management of failed Probings, from 1-3 years age were described in this instruction course. The technical difficulties in Paediatric DCR from 3-15 years age group, the time tested most successful Adult External DCR which was shown easily completed in 10 easy steps, were demonstrated with the help of video surgical recording. The various options of DCR vs DCT in elderly age group associated with various systemic diseases, were also enumerated in this course. At the end, a panel discussion and good interaction with experts will help the audience to clarify their doubts in this common clinical entity.

Surgical Skills
Transfer Sessions
AIOC 2015
Surgical Skills Transfer Session (SSTS)

Are we all not Surgeons. What does a Surgeon need? Surgical Training or hands on to learn and improve our skills. It could be a fresher or a skilled surgeon. Everybody needs to hone their skills. AIOS Sci. Comm under the leadership of Dr. Lalit Verma is exactly trying to deliver this in the AIOC 2015 in New Delhi. This particular endeavor is called Surgical Skills Transfer Course.

The Surgical Skills Transfer Session will combine a 1- or 2-hour didactic session describing the surgical technique with a 1- to 3-hour wet lab, during which the participants perform the technique on an animal or cadaveric eye using state-of-the-art equipment from multiple companies. There will be multiple skills transfer courses devoted to ophthalmic diagnostic and surgical techniques at the annual meeting. They will offer participants great opportunities for learning the theoretical aspects as well as have an opportunity to practice them hands on under the supervision of expert trainers.

Following are the topics which we are planning to showcase:

7. DSEK, 8. Viscocanalostomy, 9. Boston Keratoprosthesis

Phaco Curriculum

The course titled, “Basic and Intermediate Phacoemulsification,” will have a 2 hour instructional lecture series presented by leading cataract surgeons who are known for their teaching abilities. The phaco technique is broken into its components and taught in a stepwise fashion, from the understanding of machines, until the very end of surgery. Students receive a detailed course manual, which contains lecture notes from each of the instructors.

Later, a team of 6 instructors teach two 1 hour laboratory sessions that allow students to practice all of the phaco techniques covered during the didactic session. The participants learn the necessary skills by using multiple phaco machines under the close supervision of experts.

The “Advanced Phacoemulsification” course is designed for more experienced surgeons. This lesson consists of a 2-hour lecture and two 1 hour laboratories. Participants learn about the latest phaco techniques and technologies. Some of the advanced techniques include the advanced creation of a capsulorhexis, capsular staining, capsular tension rings, pupil expanders, phaco chop, astigmatic management, and experience with micropulsed and torsional phacoemulsification. One-on-one laboratory instruction trains attendees in these techniques.
Implantable Collamer lenses

This session involves a 1 hour lecture followed by a 1 hour laboratory. The outstanding faculty for this session consists of a combination of refractive and cataract experts. The session covers workup and technique of a phakic lens implant, with an emphasis on avoiding and managing complications.

INTACS

This session consists of a 1 hour lecture and a 1 hour lab. Participants learn about the instrumentation for INTACS implantation (including manual/femto instrumentation).

Vitrectomy for Cataract Surgeons

Participants learn about the instrumentation for a pars plana vitrectomy (including 25-, 23-, and 20-gauge vitrectomy instrumentation) and the techniques for complicated cataract surgery. Instruction covers the management of vitreous loss, both from an anterior and posterior approach. Techniques for the lens' posterior levitation and visualizing the vitreous using triamcinolone are demonstrated. The faculty also addresses the management of dropped lenses and intraoperative vitreous loss.

Combined Cataract & Glaucoma Surgery

This lecture and hands-on transfer course will give guidelines for performing conventional trabeculectomy as well as lesser invasive surgeries like Express GFD / iStent for cataract surgeons so that they can manage their glaucoma patients effectively.

Diagnostics for the Cataract & Refractive Surgeon

Shall include hands on training and didactic lectures on the principles, indications, and practical applications on the newest technologies that are useful

Schiempflug imaging
Topography
Posterior Segment OCT

Ophthalmic Sizzlers
Aim of Ophthalmic Sizzlers Sessions is: (Cases + Panel Discussion):

To Discuss Practical Issues of a Particular Subject in the form of Panel Discussion (with the help of Cases) & to have Interaction with the Audience – This will help to clarify any doubts & will help improve Patient Care.

Format is:

- Prepare 10 to 15 important and debatable Case questions. Can ask first to one panelist. Then can ask another panelists for their opinion if needed. During each question -also encourage audience participation.
- These questions should help general ophthalmologists in their practice.
- Questions should cover diagnosis as well as treatment part (Surgical / Medical).
- Questions can have clinical photographs or video clippings whenever necessary etc.
- After debate over particular question 'à should conclude with remarks.
- Can involve audience if they have questions.
- Avoid any controversies if arises

Teachers in Ophthalmology- An ARC, AIOS- ICO Update
(4th February 2105)

Chairperson: Dr Partho Biswas, Chairman ARC, AIOS

These programs will be under the guidance from the ICO (International Council of Ophthalmology).
The scientific endeavor of this program is to facilitate the academic program for Teachers in Ophthalmology, who are the Torch Bearers to our next generation.

The Central Workshop at the annual All India Ophthalmological Conference would be a 1 day curriculum which would pave the path for continuation of the subsequent workshops in the following year.

Purpose: To help ophthalmic educators learn more about modern educational theory, methods and tools, and develop relationships that will enable them to enhance educational programs and ultimately raise the level of eye care in their region.

Goals:
1. To inform educators about adult learning theory and teaching methods, tools and resources that will help them enhance ophthalmic education.
2. To meet identified needs of participants for information and training related to specific aspects of education (e.g., needs assessment, curriculum development, teaching techniques, evaluation, etc.)
3. To stimulate and support formation of ongoing relationships and collaboration among educators in the region with common interests.
4. To provide input to the ICO, APAO, AIOS, SAO and other ophthalmologic societies on how they can support enhancement of ophthalmic education.

Target Audience:
Ophthalmic Educators involved in:
• Ophthalmology Residency Training
• Training of Subspecialists
• Medical Student Education
• Education of Allied Eye Care Personnel
• Continuing Professional Development and CME
• New Technology for Teaching and Learning
• Certification and Accreditation
• Leaders of ophthalmologic societies and the ICO, AIOS

ARC Young Researcher’s Award Session
1. ARC Young Ophthalmologist Forum
2. “THINK UNDER THE APPLE TREE”
3. Initiation Session For LDP Batch 2015-2016 (LDP 1)
As a budding Ophthalmologist one will have lot of aspirations as well as challenges. One needs to plan his or her future carefully. Major decision will be whether to opt for private practice or academic career. Private practice has its challenges and one need to approach with a different mindset. Academic career require an innovative mind and knowledge sharing attitude. Some time while established in private practice, one can expand the practice to a group practice and can later convert it into an academic institution. Young ophthalmologists will be apprised of the various phases and challenges at each phase and how to tackle them.

“Think Under the Apple Tree”

Chairperson: Dr Boris Malyugin
Co-Chairperson: Dr H.K. Tewari
Convenor: Dr Lalit Verma
Moderator: Dr Partha Biswas

Panel of EXPERTS
Keynote Speaker: Dr Boris Malyugin 12 min

This is a session for our Young Minds in Ophthalmology, inspiring them to think beyond the Clinical Scenario of our day to day practice in Ophthalmology.

We all have seen an Apple Tree in our lives and some of us have sat under an Apple Tree, but it was Newton who watched an "Apple Fall"...THOUGHT about the falling Apple and ultimately gave to mankind the "LAWS of GRAVITY".

The FUTURE of Ophthalmology, lies in these sparkling MINDS and able HANDS. We need them to question... WHY?....HOW?....WHY NOT?

4 Minute presentation of a well thought problem by Young Minds who have reviewed literature and have come up with an important query.

The literature review and the query has to be circulated to an appropriate panel who would guide him to a possible solution through a RESEARCH METHODOLOGY.

Panel will consist of Material Science Expert, Professors, Microbiologists, Histopathologist, Epidemiologists.

The program covers philosophy, principles and practice of leadership to provide both orientation and skill development to future leaders of state, subspecialty and specialized interest societies. The goal is to identify individuals with the potential to become leaders in Ophthalmology, provide orientation and skills to promote Ophthalmology locally and nationally and facilitate the promotion of program graduates into leadership position both locally and nationally in India.

IJO Session
IJO is an open access peer reviewed journal with an Impact Factor of 0.937. It is the official publication of AIOS. IJO endeavours to ignite interest in research & publication through its research workshops. This session aims to give an introduction to this topic & tips on research and publication. Various options are available for publication and this will educate attendees on the ethical & correct methods of publication.

Synopsis of the Session:

Association of Community Ophthalmologists of India (ACOIN) is the Society consisting of eye specialists, optometrists and scientists interested in community eye care. This organisation nurtures the activities of Continuing Medical Education, Surveys and encouraging exercises for the junior ophthalmologists in and around India involving the SAARC. The Society is affiliated to AIOS and continuing all these activities for last 14 years.

The organization consists of more than 500 members from all the states of India and abroad. Previously the same organization was known as “Indian Alumni Group of ICEH, London”. One annual conference and international assembly every year and 7 to 8 CMEs and Ocular Morbidity Surveys in village nearby the CME spot spread all over India are the ongoing annual activities of this association. The Society also conducts enterprising activities for the juniors by arranging free paper contests and recently also has started financial grants for conducting community eye care projects for the post graduate trainees.

This special academic Session is aimed to focus on the details of ongoing community eye care programme in India and also will discuss the facets of the burning issue of Diabetic Retinopathy, Childhood Blindness and Glaucoma with its achievement and draw backs. It will also evaluate the ongoing management and effective outcome by deploying Modern Gadgets with Teleophthalmology facilities in reaching the unreached population as is evident from ACOIN Sample Survey in the different states of India under its ACOIN Eye Health Survey Programme.

Theme of the Session:

Status of Ongoing Community Eye Health Practice in India … what more to add and alter for an effective outcome.

Conduction policy:

Job and responsibilities of each designation are already mentioned in the list below. Everybody should adhere to the allotted time limit. Speaker will cover the topic. Discussant is supposed to add anything not mentioned by the speaker and alter any point or value of the contents in the speech.

Col. Rangachari Award for FREE PAPERS

THE BEST PAPER OF EACH SESSION SELECTED FROM THOSE PRESENTED WILL BE ELIGIBLE FOR THE COL. RANGACHARI AWARD (Subject to the conditions of the Award). Where there are multiple sessions (Cataract, Cornea, Community Social, Glaucoma, Orbit, and Retina) winners from each session must re-present their paper at the Semi Final Session on 07.02.2015 in Hall J from 11:30-12:55 & 13:00:14:00.

Failure to do so will make them ineligible for the Final on 08.02.2015 in Hall A from 08:30 - 11:25 [Changing the Presenting Author is NOT ALLOWED in any session including Semi final/Final round]. All AIOS Awards will be given to RATIFIED AIOS MEMBERS only. The last Ratified membership No. is 16700 at Agra.

If the paper is presented / published elsewhere, it will not be eligible for any AIOS AWARD. If the presenting Author is not a ratified AIOS member, that Paper/Poster will NOT be evaluated/ marked and will NOT be eligible to be presented in the Semi final/Final rounds or any AIOS Award (subject to the conditions of the Award). No Award shall be given to the same person twice.

FULL TEXT TO IJO FIRST
All authors / presenters must submit the full text of the accepted free papers for AIOS conference by a specified date. As proposed by the editorial board earlier and agreed upon by the OBSC all the best papers from each session should be submitted to IJO [ijo.editor@gmail.com] first for possible publication. The authors cannot submit the papers to any other journal unless it has been rejected by IJO after the peer review process. The final decision about the article will be taken within 6 months after the submission. Names and abstracts are appearing as mentioned by the Chief Authors in the Abstract submission form.
INSTRUCTION FOR SPEAKERS

GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS
Written and oral presentations differ. A confused reader can backtrack as necessary to clarify an obscure passage, but a bewildered listener will miss the point. Well-structured talks anticipate, then answer questions in the minds of the audience and thus maintain continuous interest. The oral presentation should highlight the key features of the written paper. This will motivate the audience to read your published work. Few listeners will remember statistics but many will retain a few statistics that summarize your work.

THE AUDIENCE
Your audience at the conference will be composed of well-informed ophthalmologists and students. Your presentation should provide something of value to the generalist, as well as, to the expert.

PRE-MEETING PREPARATION
The key to a successful scientific talk is adequate preparation. Plan your presentation well in advance. Often a programme participant will spend too much time on the written paper and too little on the oral presentation Once the initial written draft is completed, the oral presentation and the written paper or discussion should proceed concurrently. Slide preparation should also start early. Last minute slide requests and changes may jeopardise the quality of illustrations.

THE SCRIPT
Though reading a paper from a prepared text may be the easiest Method of delivery, it does not always produce a convincing presentation. Many feel that a talk is more effective without the aid of a written text. When a paper is memorized, a presentation can sound stilted. The use of a script is, therefore, a personal decision. However, when a presentation is 6 minutes long, a script may be desirable for a number of reasons:

1. It ensures that important points are included.
2. It results in the use of short, simple sentences.
3. With illustrations, it ensures that the slides match the spoken presentation.
4. It allows a detailed rehearsal with voice emphasis on key words.
5. It permits advance timing of the talk to produce a well-paced presentation.

Once the script has been completed and the illustrations are prepared, use a stopwatch to time the presentation. Control pacing by noting the remaining time on the script. Remember that viewers will not be listening to you while you are reading the text on your slides. The Free Paper presentation must take not more than 6 minutes.

FINAL SCRIPT
A script is not finalised until it is read aloud three or more times and preferably recorded on tape. This process will allow you to edit phrases or words, that may read well silently but are awkward in speech. After the script has been edited, it is ready for typing. It is best to use legible large print. In the 2nd slide, please mention the financial disclosure, even if none.

PRESENTATION REHEARSAL
Rehearsing before an audience is both valuable and necessary. It helps you to develop a smooth delivery and check content and organization with colleagues. It also allows you to pace the presentation and to become familiar with your slide sequence and timing.

PRESENER CHECK-IN
It is imperative when you arrive in your session room that you check in with the chairperson of that session so that you are confirmed as present. Every hall will have 2 lecterns. Please go and stand in front of the vacant lectern while the previous author is still presenting.

THE PODIUM
If you are unfamiliar with speaking at conferences it is helpful to stand at the podium prior to the session to familiarize yourself with the podium and microphone heights, slide control button, pointer and warming light system. This ritual may also allay any apprehension.

1. A warming light system will be installed to remind you of the time left for your presentation. GREEN to start, ORANGE to indicate a minute left & RED to STOP (You must STOP immediately on getting a Red light).
2. The projectors can be operated by remote control.
3. There is no need to lean into the microphone or to adjust it.

TIME REGULATION STRICTLY. you can use your own laptop for your presentation.

POINTER USE
The pointer should aid the presentation, not be a distraction. Some speakers forgetting to release the switch on the laser pointer, splash a beam throughout the stage in a wild display. If there are any small nervous tremors in a speaker's hand, they are amplified in the pointer's spot on the screen. It is best used sparingly, spotting only key points.

POLICIES REGARDING PRESENTATION
Speakers at the conference should never make remarks that could be interpreted as being prejudicial against a group or an individual. This time E-Certificate will be introduced and there is no hard copy of the certificate will be issued after the presentation at the conference. We have ensured that a 'Best Paper Award' will be given for every Free Paper section. Where named awards do not already exist, the award will be given from AIOS. In Cataract, Community/ Social, Cornea, Glaucoma, Orbit/Plastic, Vitreo Retinal Diseases where multiple Free Paper sessions are there, the best paper of each session will be presented in the Semi- Final and the best paper selected.

ABSENCE:
Absentees without intimation will not be permitted as per the Bye Laws to participate as faculty in the next conference and their names will be published in the AIOS Newsletter.
GUIDELINES TO CHAIRMAN, CO-CHAIRMAN, CONVENOR, MODERATOR AND JUDGES

TIME MANAGEMENT
This is your MOST IMPORTANT responsibility. Please START the session on time. Concluding the session on time is even more important so as not to impinge upon the next session. PLEASE ENSURE THAT YOUR SESSION DOES NOT SPILL OVER INTO THE CHANGEOVER TIME BETWEEN SESSIONS. THIS TIME MUST BE UTILISED ONLY FOR THE NEXT SESSION CHAIRPERSONS TO SETTLE DOWN.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST
It is absolutely mandatory that in case if you find that in any competitive session where you are a judge and you feel there may be conflict of interest because one of the presentations is by you/ your associate/your family member/your institute please inform the Chairman - Scientific Committee immediately on receiving the information about your session, so that alternative arrangements could be made & you could be assigned elsewhere. WE WANT TO TOTALLY AVOID A PERSON BEING A JUDGE IN ANY SESSION IF THERE IS EVEN THE REMOTEST POSSIBILITY OF CONFLICT OF INTEREST

OTHER GUIDELINES:
Once submitted & accepted ‘No change’ in authors or topics is allowed in any of the sessions.

• Certificate of attendance in the conference is given by the Local Organizing Committee. This time E-Certificate will be introduced and hence there is no hard copy of the Certificate will be issued after the presentation at the Conference

• Please follow the order of speakers in the sheet supplied on your table. Do not allow change in the order of the presentation unless you feel it is absolutely justified.

• If there is any Key note speaker in your session, please introduce him/her to the audience. In the Free paper session, Keynote speaker’s duration is 6 minutes/or as marked in the mark sheet. Each Free paper is 6 minutes and Hyde Park is 5 minutes.

• Kindly indicate the Paper presenter’s name in the mark sheet.

• Indicate your marks in the given mark sheet (per 100). Marks are for Content, Presentation, Slides & Originality (25 marks each).

• At the end of session, please calculate the total marks of each paper and the highest mark will be the BEST PAPER IN YOUR SESSION.

• Please indicate the Best paper in the mark sheet clearly and also announce the same at the end of the session. PLEASE ENSURE THERE ARE NO ERRORS IN CALCULATIONS OR PROCEDURE FOLLOWED. The result announced is subject to ratification by the Scientific Committee office.

• If the presenting author is a non-member or a non-ratified member, DO NOT EVALUATE that particular paper/e-poster/video because they are not eligible for any AIOS AWARD. Hence, before announcing the result, please see whether the Presenting author is a ratified member. In AIOC 2014 Agra Conference, Membership upto Sl.No.16700 were ratified.

• Please don't go out of the hall in between and switch off your mobile phone during the session. Kindly concentrate on each presentation so that justice will be done.

• Don’t consult the marks with other judges. We want your individual evaluation.

• Please mark whether all the Free papers were presented. If there is any absentees (including other judges), please indicate in the mark sheet clearly as “absent” without fail.

• Don’t forget to write your name in Capital letters with mobile number in the marks sheet and sign.

AIOS Scientific Committee appreciates your support.
- CHAIRMAN, SCIENTIFIC COMMITTEE.
NO CHANGE IN AUTHORS

IF YOU ARE NON MEMBER OR NON RATIFIED MEMBER, BEFORE PRESENTATION INFORM THE CHAIRMAN & CO-CHAIRMAN. No change in presenting author is allowed. The same presenting author must re-present the paper in Semi Final/Final (Col. Rangachari Session) – subject to the conditions. LAST MINUTE REQUEST FOR CHANGE IN PRESENTING AUTHOR AT THE VENUE WILL NOT BE ALLOWED AND NOT ELIGIBLE FOR ANY AIOS AWARD.

In case new co-author is presenting the paper instead of Chief Author or co-authors mentioned earlier, they must submit a signed authorization on letter from chief author to the chairman, scientific committee well in advance. Only Ratified members are eligible for any AIOS AWARD. Non-ratified member’s paper/video/poster will not eligible for evaluation/ marking or any AIOS AWARD. If found, the next highest mark won paper presenter (ratified member) will be eligible for the Award automatically.

AFFILIATION AND FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE

Financial disclosure has to be made by every speaker for every presentation irrespective of whether it is relevant to that particular presentation or not. The second slide of every presentation must be on Disclosure. Even if there is no Financial interest it MUST be mentioned. The presentation will be stopped if such a disclosure is not made.

ACADEMIC PIRACY

Member of the concerned defaulter will be suspended for 3 years and again if piracy is reported for second time to suspend him for 10 years. Apart from this the name of the defaulter will also be published in the circular of the general secretary, AIOS website and abstract book.
